Carl Byoir, 68, Public Relations Pioneer, Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Carl Byoir, 68, pioneer in the public relations field, died Sunday in New York Hospital. Cause of death was not disclosed.

A native of Des Moines, Iowa, Byoir had a varied career as newspaper reporter, businessman, publisher and government worker before he founded the public relations firm bearing his name in 1930.

Byoir was credited with conceiving the idea of Franklin D. Roosevelt birthday balls as a means of raising funds to fight polio. Millions of dollars have been raised through the venture.

Ike, King Saud Reach Accord

Monarch Won't Buy Arms From Russia

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and King Saud set their aides working out details today after reaching general accord on such Middle East problems as Red infiltration, reopening the Suez Canal and military-economic support.

The two leaders scheduled one more meeting, probably next Friday, to be followed by a communique summing up their talks.

The 55-year-old monarch was understood to have assured Eisenhower he has no intention of buying arms from the Soviet bloc as his Arab neighbors Egypt and Syria have done.

Officials said Saud told Eisenhower he still looks to the United States for arms and training for Saudi Arabian troops. He is said to want possibly to double his 15,000-man force, plus more tanks and jet planes.

This would be in exchange for a five-year extension of the agreement permitting the U. S. Air Force to use the Dhahran base 1,000 miles from Russia's Middle East border.

Officials said the three-day Eisenhower-Saud talks were "satisfactory" on these other points as well:

1. Eisenhower's Middle East proposal, now before Congress, to block Communist expansion in the Middle East with broad U. S. military and economic support. Saud was said to feel his own misunderstandings of the plan were cleared up.

2. Reopening the Suez Canal so as to ensure Egypt's sovereignty and to guarantee free access and fair tolls under principles approved by the United Nations Security Council.

3. Economic aid, with some immediate revenue-producing projects being tagged for commercial and World Bank loans, and any grant aid being delayed until after the new fiscal year starts July 1.

One-Third Of Hoover Group's Ideas In Effect

562 Million Dollars Saved Each Year, Commission Reports

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Citizen's Committee for the Hoover Report said today more than a third of the Hoover Commission's recommendations have been or are being put into effect. It estimated potential government savings of 562 million dollars a year are involved.

But the committee added in a report that "a strong drive is required to reap the full benefits" of the commission's proposals for streamlining government operations.

The report was issued in connection with a meeting of 500 delegates from 30 states. Listed to address the two-day national reorganization conference, called by the committee, were President Eisenhower, Atty. Gen. Brownell and former President Herbert Hoover, who headed the two reorganization commissions.

39% In Effect

The report said action has been taken to put into effect 39 percent of the 314 recommendations made by the second Hoover Commission in June 1955. The first commission operated during the Truman administration.

The committee said the remaining recommendations, including many of the most controversial ones, point the way to yearly economies totaling another 4½ billion dollars.

In a prepared speech, Charles R. Hook, chairman of Armco Steel Corp., Middletown, Ohio, called on the delegates to support a drive for elimination of many of the 2,500 business-type enterprises conducted by the Defense Department.

359 Businesses Closed

Some 359 military-operated factories, stores, and other business-type ventures have been closed under Secretary of Defense Wilson's instructions, Hook said. But he added: "Hundreds more unnecessary enterprises remain in operation, including some which compete with private business."

Hook, who was chairman of the Hoover Commission's task force on business organization of the Defense Department, said the military is the greatest business enterprise on earth.

Further streamlining of the military establishment is required to insure that its great financial and manpower resources are economically and efficiently used, he said.

The most important Hoover recommendation in this area, Hook went on, is for establishment of a separate agency to do the purchasing and distributing of supply items used by all three services.

This proposal has not been accepted by the Defense Department although Wilson has installed a "single manager plan" under which one of the services does all the buying of specific items for all three.

"While we do not believe that the single manager plan goes far enough," Hook said, "we do feel that this may be a major step in the right direction . . . it is our intention to watch closely and see how it is working."

Hays Bids For Mayor Of East Liverpool

Robert H. Hays, president of Hays Motors, Inc., and the Hays Oil Co. and a civic leader for 20 years, filed today for the Republican nomination for mayor of East Liverpool in the May 7 primaries.

Hays' candidacy, the first time a prominent businessman has sought the mayoralty in many years, hit regulars of both parties like a bombshell. Foreman of the grand jury that investigated the so-called police burglary scandal here in 1956, he was given the annual Junior Chamber of Commerce civic service award last Wednesday for "unselfish civic duties."

Three other mayoralty candidates are in the field; only two have filed. Mayor Arnold W. Devon has entered for a fifth term on the Democratic ticket and Council President Bert H. Goodballet filed today for the party's nomination, confirming an earlier announcement.

Former Mayor E. Allan McKeever has announced he will bid for a second term on the GOP slate. He was mayor in 1954-55.

Teen-Age Gangs, Screams Provide Clues

Police Study Leads In Grimes Slayings

CHICAGO (AP)—Teen-age gang violence and screams in the night provided the newest leads today as police pushed an investigation into the slaying of the two young Grimes sisters.

Three youthful toughs were seized Sunday for questioning. Police said they were members of a gang conducting a virtual reign of terror in the neighborhood where Barbara Grimes, 17, and her sister, Patricia, 13, lived.

The youths are currently free on bond. They were arrested Dec. 29 on charges of assaulting a sailor as he walked at night in a park. The park is a block from the girls' home. The sisters vanished Dec. 28 on their way home from a neighborhood movie theater.

Cause of Death Unknown

Their nude, frozen bodies were found in a ditch southwest of the city Jan. 22. Cause of their deaths remains a mystery and the date they died is uncertain.

Dr. Walter Camp, a state toxicologist, has said that an analysis of Barbara's stomach indicates she died about midnight Dec. 28, the date the girls disappeared. Food in her stomach corresponded with a meal served at home the same night, he said. The stomach of the other girl, who was reported to have eaten less, was empty.

Screams in the neighborhood the night of Dec. 28 were belatedly reported to police Sunday. One woman said she heard screams from a moving automobile about 11:30 p.m. Dec. 28, six blocks from the theater. Another woman told of hearing three screams at another location in the neighborhood.

A truck driver, Daniel W. Eshelman, 39, told police he was driving through the neighborhood about midnight the same night and saw two young girls climb into an auto occupied by three youths. Eshelman said one of the girls appeared reluctant to get in.

Bedwell still jailed.

Meanwhile, Edward (Bennie) Bedwell, 21, an illiterate skid row dish washer from Paris, Tenn., remained in jail charged with murdering the girls. The charges were filed a week ago on the strength of a confession obtained from him after lengthy questioning by sheriff's police. It was later repudiated by Bedwell who said officers threatened and beat him.

A habeas corpus hearing Saturday added support to Bedwell's contention that the confession was a lie. Chief Justice Wilbert F. Crowley of Criminal Court, ruled Bedwell can go free on $20,000 bond, considered low in murder cases.

But David Bradshaw, Bedwell's attorney, said his client's financial resources total $50—and that this sum is the gift of well-wishers.

Authorities have said Bedwell's confession contains many statements which lack corroborating evidence and which conflict with the toxicologist's report.

Bedwell said he and man he knew only as "Frank" dumped the girls' bodies in the roadside ditch after a week-long liquor and sex binge with the sisters in skid row. He also said the girls' ate hot dogs the night they were left unconscious in the snow-filled ditch.

HUB CAPS STOLEN Richard Daugherty of 807 E. 4th St. reported to police that someone stole two hub caps from his car while it was parked in a lot on E. Pershing St. between 8:30 and 11 p.m. Friday. The hub caps were valued at $33.

Shaw was cited for reckless operation, state highway patrolmen said.

Eleanor Felton, 22, of 352 E. 3rd St. received severe lacerations of the eye in an accident involving a car driven by Charles Sprouse, 23, of Hammondsville, that occurred on County Road 877, just east of Salineville, at 10:10 p.m.

Patrolmen reported Sprouse's car went out of control, struck a bridge abutment, and overturned in a creek. The auto was demolished. Sprouse was not hurt.

Miss Felton was treated at East Liverpool City Hospital.

TONS OF SNOW—George Johnson, 68, who has lived at Crested Butte, Colo., all of his life, thinks this may be the record year for snow in this Western Colorado mining community. The town's 500 residents have shoveled, plowed and floundered their way through more than 17 feet of snow and there is a lot more to come.

Washingtonville Youth Hurt In Crash

Donald Campbell, 23, of Washingtonville is in fair condition at Salem City Hospital where he was admitted following an automobile accident at 3 a.m. Sunday in Leetonia.

He sustained multiple abrasions and possible fracture of the left arm when his car struck a utility pole on Walnut St. in Leetonia.

Eight persons were injured in two accidents Saturday on district highways. Seven were hurt in one of the mishaps.

Injured in the accident that occurred on Rt. 7, six miles south of Rogers, at 7 p.m. were Anthony Sheen, 44, of 1490 N. Ellsworth Ave.; his wife, Marion, 31; their daughters, Antoinette, 9, and Melanie, 7; Mrs. Sheen's parents, Charles Davidson, 64, and Pauline Davidson, 60, also of 1490 N. Ellsworth Ave.; and Grover Atkins, 71, of Hanoverton.

Patrolmen said the accident occurred when a car driven by Lloyd Shaw, 50, of Hanoverton, went left of center and struck Sheen's car.

Atkins, who was a passenger in Shaw's auto, is in fairly good condition today in the East Liverpool City Hospital with lacerations of the scalp, chin, and right eye, and a fractured wrist.

Shaw received abrasions and bruises of the chest; Mrs. Sheen, contusions of the face and abrasions of the leg; Antoinette, contusions of the face; Melanie, lacerations of the scalp and contusions of the head; and Mrs. Davidson, contusions of the chest. They were all treated at the East Liverpool hospital.

Shaw was cited for reckless operation, state highway patrolmen said.

Eleanor Felton, 22, of 352 E. 3rd St. received severe lacerations of the eye in an accident involving a car driven by Charles Sprouse, 23, of Hammondsville, that occurred on County Road 877, just east of Salineville, at 10:10 p.m.

Rescue Teams Hunt Survivors In Deep Tunnel

Explosion Occurs In Big Mine On Virginia, W. Virginia Border

BISHOP, Va. (AP)—A rumbling explosion deep in the Bishop coal mine today killed at least nine miners. Twenty-seven others were missing in the miles of catcombs straddling the Virginia-West Virginia line.

Late Bulletin

BISHOP, Va. (AP)—A rumbling gas explosion trapped and killed 37 miners today in the cavernous Bishop coal mine that straddles the mountainous Virginia-West Virginia line.

The blast, probably from gas, roared through a level about five miles from the mine's entrance about 2½ miles away in West Virginia.

A spokesman for Pocahontas Fuel Co. owner of the mine, said he thought the explosion occurred in one of the mine's three sections where 42 men were at work. At the time the blast sent dust laden air whistling through the tunnels 184 men were underground.

No bodies had been taken from the mine eight hours after the blast.

Anxious friends and relatives crowded near the mine entrance near Bishop, a community of 900, to await news of the missing men.

A dispatcher, R. P. Meade, said the rescuers had heard no cries from any of the missing nor had they been able to make any contact.

"There is still some hope that some of the men will be found alive," said Dispatcher Martin E. Martin. He attributed the explosion to gas accumulation. Martin said there was no cave-in and apparently the greatest danger was posed by smoke and fumes.

Rescue parties were seeking to reach the trapped men through the exit from which coal is brought out.

The last company officials heard from the miners was by telephone at 3:30 a.m. when Raymond Owensby called with the information his section was all right providing the smoke and fumes died.

The mine is located in Tazewell County, one of six mountainous southwest Virginia counties declared a disaster area by President Eisenhower last week after the section's worst flood raged through the area. The mine, however, was not flooded.

Rufus Trail, a motorman, said he was at the mine's tangle after taking two hauls of miners to their underground workings when a miner called. Trail quoted the miner as saying he thought "something was wrong" due to an accumulation of dust.

12 File On Weekend As Deadline Nears

Nine Columbiana men and three Lisbon men filed with the Columbiana County Election Board over the weekend for Republican nominations at the primary election in May.

Deadline for filing is Wednesday at 4 p.m.

Filing for Columbiana posts were: Joseph K. Harding, treasurer; Carl S. Keller and Clyde M. Hoover, trustees of public affairs; and John H. Graft, Wayne Paulson, Harry A. Fullerton, Robert P. Ross, Kenneth T. Gormley and Herbert L. Sponseller, council.

No Republican candidates filed for the Columbiana mayor or clerk's posts. Erwood L. Calvin and S. Richard Orr filed previously for Democratic nomination to the mayor and clerk posts, respectively.

Lisbon candidates filing over the weekend were: William H. Brown, council; Paul S. Kuhns, trustee of public affairs; and Gerald Sanders, mayor.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Unlike Winston Churchill, George Meany may yet have to preside over the liquidation of his empire. Like Winston Churchill, George Meany is involved in a bitter war, with the most bitter moments still to come.

The first gun-fire of this war was sounded loudly in the U.S. Senate, it was the thunderous voice of a unanimous Senate launching the most sweeping investigation of labor — and the most bountifully financed.

This means that the men on The Hill now hold the authority to demand the books of all unions.

Under the new policy and codes adopted about the same moment by the AFL - CIO high command in Miami Beach, all unions must offer up their records upon official call. The Teamsters apparently are preparing to refuse to do so.

IF I READ the tea leaves correctly, AFL - CIO President Meany will have to move against this powerful Teamster combine — which already is preparing to bolt or be thrown out of the labor federation.

It is a fact that influential Teamsters' chiefs, such as James R. Hoffa, have been contacting other friendly union leaders.

The Teamsters are asking what support they can expect if they defy Mr. Meany and the Senate. The big wheels of the men on wheels have queried bluntly who would bolt with them if they walk out or are thrown out of the AFL-CIO.

Like all men wise in the ways of power, the Teamsters have long had interlocking alliances with other unions.

It is possible that the Teamsters could not only take their 1,400,000 members out of the AFL - CIO but could move out, like an army with its caravans of trailer trucks, followed by chieftains with several million more duespayers. It could be an imposing army.

YET MR. MEANY seems to have no choice but to move against them even if he is reluctant to take on Dave Beck and company.

There is a record of criminality inside labor already. The Senate will add grim sections to this rogues' roster.

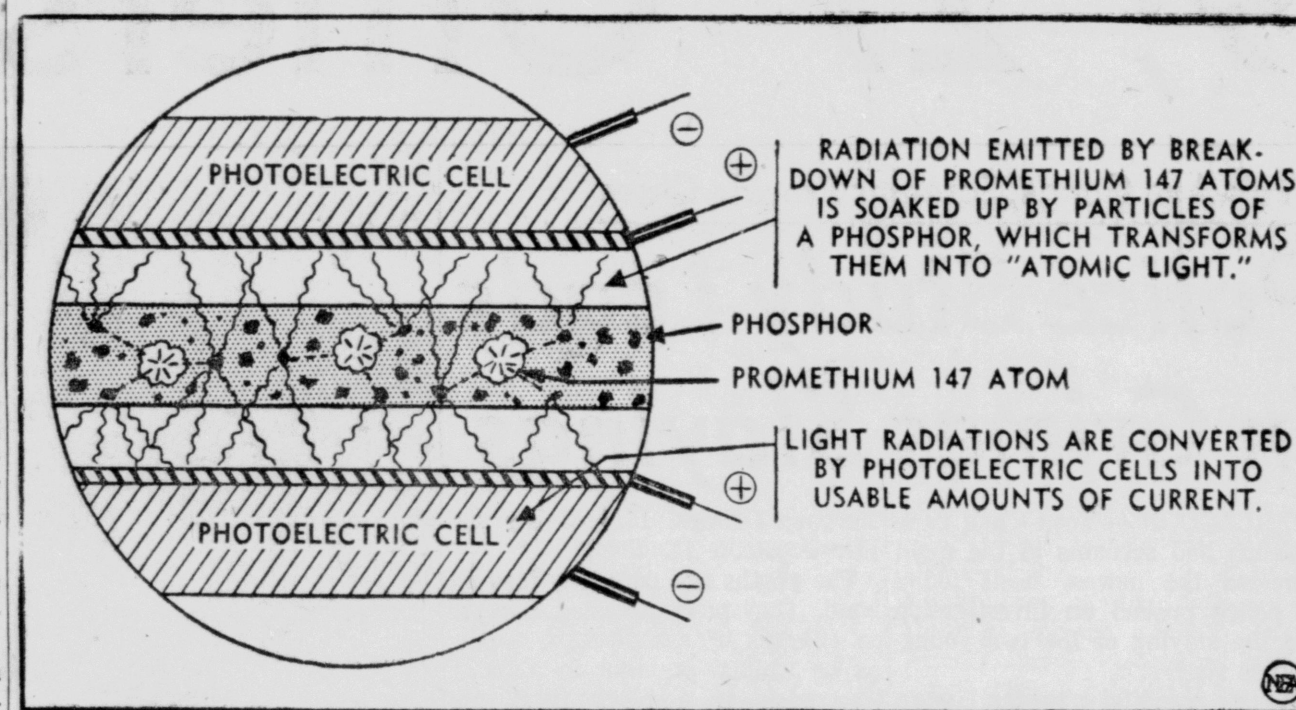

The Justice Department files, for example, reveal that officials of at least 10 major unions and their locals have been convicted or are awaiting trial on charges of violating federal anti-racketeering laws.

With the exactitude of an eclipse the FBI has rolled up 115 convictions of labor men since 1953.

These officials betrayed the trust put in them by the members of the Plumbers Union, the Teamsters, the Operating Engineers, the Hod Carriers and Common Laborers, the Bridge Workers and some Electrical Workers.

TINY BATTERY HARNESSSES ATOM

A tiny, shielded, atomic-powered battery is shown at upper right, at right, in comparison with a cough drop to emphasize its tininess. Said to be as safe to have on the person as a house key, its developers state that the battery gives off less radiation than radium-painted dials on modern wrist watches. Potential uses include: power source for miniature radios, hearing aids, and, perhaps, wrist watches. With a functional life of five years in its present form, adaptations of the basic battery may someday be used in meteorological and other instruments which could operate, unattended, for long periods of time. The device is a joint research development of Elgin National Watch Company and the Walter Kidde Nuclear Laboratories. Diagrammed, below, is the operating principle of the battery. Promethium 147, once considered an atomic waste product, is used as a power source because it produces energy over a long period and requires little shielding.

SO MUCH for the convictions. There are at least another 100 officials of other unions now under federal and local indictments on charges of pushing a lot of people around, shaking them down and making easy with other people's money — mostly dues and pensions and welfare funds.

Annual Columbiana Rotary Award to Be Given Tonight

Most Outstanding Scout Will Be Award Recipient

COLUMBIANA — The annual Rotary memorial award in honor of Theodore Detwiler, Columbiana soldier who gave his life in World War II, will be presented at a joint dinner of the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs in Joshua Dixon School at 6:30 p.m. today to the most outstanding Boy Scout of the year in Columbiana and Fairfield Township.

In The Service

Robert Harvey Balevre, son of Mrs. Audrey Balevre of 110 Oak St., Leetonia, has completed nine weeks of recruit training at the United States Naval Training Center, Bainbridge, Md.

The local sailor, a former student at Leetonia, will spend a 14-day leave with his parents before reporting to Little Creek, Va., for machinist's mate training aboard ship.

The Leetonia Bluejacket enlisted for three years.

Precipitation Felt In Much Of Nation

By The Associated Press

The west central and southwest portions of the nation lay under generally clear skies today while a varied assortment of precipitation sprinkled the Pacific Northwest, Texas, the Ohio Valley and much of the East and Southeast.

Colder weather was in prospect for a large area from the Great Lakes southward into Texas and rain or drizzle occurred along the edge of this chill air.

Showers were expected in the Lone Star State, rain or drizzle was in the works for sections of the Ohio Valley with rain or snow farther to northeast.

Variable cloudiness was to cover much of the East with rain dousing the South and snow in the extreme North.

Cleanup operations moved steadily ahead in flood-stricken areas of West Virginia, Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee today as Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi braced for lowland flooding along rivers.

At least 15 persons have been killed, some 15,000 were homeless and damage was estimated at more than 75 million dollars in the wake of the devastating floods.

Barberton Plant Expands

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — An eight-million-dollar expansion program that will boost production of heavy wall forgings by 150 per cent at the nearby Barberton works of Babcock & Wilcox Co. is scheduled for completion late this year. The program, which was started early last year, also includes additions to two buildings, increasing by 15 per cent the manufacturing space at the plant.

Columbiana Philologists will meet in the public library at 8:30 p.m. today, with Mrs. Raymond Mackall as hostess. Responses to roll call will be commonly used foreign phrases.

CLAIMS ADEN — Imam Ahmed, king of the Yemen, has laid claim to all of the British protectorate of Aden as a means of settling the long-standing border dispute between the two countries. Claiming that Great Britain fails to settle because they hope to find oil in the disputed territory, he threatens to put his case before the United Nations.

Ask druggist for CYSTEX under money-back guarantee. See how fast you improve.

Hal Johnson, as the representative of the Rotary Club, will make the presentation in the presence of guest scouts and local leaders and officials of the Columbiana County Boy Scout Council.

Ross Ludwig of Lisbon, executive of the County Council, will be the speaker, and a scout film will be shown. The program this year has been arranged by a Kiwanis committee, K. T. Gormley, chairman. The dinner will be served by the music committee of the Parent Teacher Organization.

Three Boy Scout troops and two cub packs and their leaders will be guests. Troops represented will be 16 of the Methodist Church, George Robertson, scoutmaster; 18 of Firestone American Legion Post, Robert Antram, scoutmaster; Troop 40 of East Fairfield Methodist Church, Merle DeRhodes, scoutmaster; Cub Pack 17 of the Presbyterian church, Jack Lindsay, cubmaster, and Cub Pack 69 of Columbiana Catholic Women's Guild, Robert Grant, cubmaster.

LIEUT. PAUL M. Moore, jet pilot from the Youngstown Air Base, will be at the first 1957 meeting of the Columbiana Ground Observer Corps in city hall at 8 p.m. tomorrow, to which the public is invited. Lieutenant Moore, fighter pilot, is with the 86th Fighter Interceptor Squadron (Air Defense) based at Youngstown field. He will bring all the equipment a jet pilot must have, including "G" suit, helmet and inflatable dinghy for use when downed at sea.

A native of Cozzadale, O., Lieutenant Moore took extended jet fighter training after graduation from Miami University, Oxford, O., and was assigned to this area in the spring of 1956.

In addition to a badge to be awarded Mrs. Laura Hamilton for 500 hours of vigil at the observer post in Firestone Park, other awards will go to Mrs. Mae Tyson, Miss Alice Gaston, Donald Culp and Willard Kelly for 250 hours each, to Post Supervisor George Burton, Mrs. Frances Burton, Daria Burke, Mrs. Ruth Donbar, Mrs. Minnie Esenwein, Mrs. Catherine Clyde Richardson Jr., Mrs. Grace Stahl, and Mrs. June Warner for 100 hours each. Twelve will receive their first 25-hour wings.

The Booster Club will have its February meeting in the High School building at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

EACH MEMBER is to take a guest for the observance of friendship night by Jerusalem Lutheran Church Daughters of the King at the church tomorrow, beginning with a smorgasbord dinner at 7 p.m. Miss Alta Mulch will give a book review and Mrs. Mary Yarian will conduct devotions.

During the annual period for registration by aliens, which ended Jan. 31, 40 registered at the Columbiana postoffice, Postmaster S. E. Tidd reports.

Russell Lindsay will present a program of recorded Dixieland and rag time music at the meeting of Columbiana Catholic Women's Guild at Valley Golf at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Mrs. J. R. Stiver and Mrs. Louis Weirick, of Salem, will present a skit at a meeting of Miriam Circle of the Presbyterian Church at the home of Mrs. Kathryn Campbell, 421 S. Main St., at 8 p.m. tomorrow. The skit will show the part of the individual circle in the Presbyterian Women's association. Mrs. Wilma Brubaker will conduct devotions, and Mrs. Peggy Horst and Mrs. Lois Weyman will be hostesses.

Weather Bureau To Aid Maple Sugar Farmers

CHARDON, Ohio (AP) — Geauga County sugar bush farmers, getting ready to tap their trees for sweet maple syrup, will get a helping hand from the U.S. Weather Bureau.

The Geauga County Extension Service has made arrangements with the weather bureau at Cleveland Hopkins Airport for a special five-day weather forecast to inform farmers when conditions are right for tapping trees.

County Agricultural Agent Leland D. Schuler said Sunday a minimum period of two to three days of favorable conditions is necessary. Nights must be freezing cold, and temperatures must rise to 40 or 50 degrees during the daytime for conditions to be favorable.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H.* At your druggist. Money back guarantee.

Europe Wants U.S. To Back Huge Atomic Power Industry

WASHINGTON (AP) — A combine of Western Europe and countries will ask the United States this week to back the development of a huge atomic power industry in Europe.

They want American materials and know-how for their own development, even though the United States now has no such industry.

A group of top-flight scientists and economists led by three representatives of the combine begins talks today with the Atomic Energy Commission, the State Department and other government agencies.

One obvious aim of the project is to make Western Europe less dependent on Middle Eastern oil.

The atomic pool, called "Euratom," is being formed by Belgium, France, West Germany, Italy, Luxembourg and the Netherlands.

Officials said Eisenhower administration leaders are deeply interested in the plan and "very sympathetic" toward United States support.

Backers say without such support the project would have to be greatly scaled out, perhaps abandoned.

The West Europeans look to this country for the necessary atomic fuel — perhaps as much as 20 tons of processed uranium in the first year of operation.

The scientists believe they can provide about 15 million kilowatts of atomic electric power by about 1962. The cost over-all has been estimated at about five billion dollars.

Goodyear Atomic is a subsidiary of Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Akron.

40 Leetonia Students Attend Kent Drama Clinic

LEETONIA — More than 40 Leetonia high school students visited Kent State University Saturday to take part in the 12th annual drama clinic sponsored by the Kent State University School of Speech.

The group was accompanied by Miss Jean McNulty, speech teacher and dramatics coach in the high school.

Following lunch the students assembled in the Kent State auditorium for the University Theater's production of Hamlet. An open forum with the director and cast of the production followed the performance.

Leetonia Booster Club will meet in the high school Wednesday at 8 p.m.

BEN C. ALTER, a member of the high school faculty, spent Friday and Saturday in Columbus where he took part in the annual public relations conference sponsored by the Ohio Education Association.

Members of the Leetonia Exempted Village School District school survey committee are asked to attend a meeting to be held in the high school building Wednesday evening at 8. This is the same committee that gathered information concerning the need of a new school during the past year.

Don Shawver, representative of Scott Foresman and Co. will speak at the PTA meeting tonight at 8 on "Reading in the Elementary School."

Shawver, who will present the background on the development of various methods of teaching reading will describe a modern reading program and the steps necessary in making a reading lesson effective.

In addition to the discussion of the reading program, Mrs. James Degnan, school nurse, will conduct a question and answer panel on the Salk vaccine.

Mrs. Oren Deffenbaugh and Mrs. Mabel Aiken will entertain the Friendly Class of St. Paul's Lutheran Church tonight at the church.

Secretary Of Dissent

Before Charles E. Wilson and his loyal wife drop out of the news, here is a wistful thought:

Some day there might be a secretary of dissent in the presidential cabinet to say officially things like the secretary of defense has been saying since 1953. Here are a few samples—

That what is good for the country is good for industry and vice versa.

That there is nothing sacred about the military budget; it can be and should be pared.

That any senator is entitled to an opinion about the size of the Air Force but senatorial opinion is by no means the last word.

That no senator can go to work with a meat ax on an executive department without expecting to defend himself.

That the United States does too much atom-rattling.

That statehood for places which aren't ready for it would be a mistake.

That it is easier to admire a man who tries to help himself than one who stands still and yells for help.

That a general is entitled to an opinion about the size of the Army but military opinion is by no means the last word on that subject either.

That the closing of an international waterway is not the end of civilization as men have known it for the last several thousand years.

That among the ways in which young men have sought to insulate themselves against the military draft, the National Guard during the Korean War must be included.

When Secretary Wilson retires as head of the Department of Defense, why not keep him on the payroll for $1 a year to stick pins into sacred cows, bleeding hearts, professional patriots, stuffed shirts and Senator Sludgepumps? The man's a genius at it — the best since the late Harold Ickes.

Unionism's Finest Hour
A Senate investigation of racketeering in unionism would give honest unionism its finest hour, if the investigation could be handled properly.

When unionism began, it was under the thumb of anarchists, syndicalists and other European revolutionary rabble trying to get something started in the New World in the 19th century.

Samuel Gompers put it on its feet with his sound philosophy about bargaining power and political independence. But meanwhile two new crowds of interlopers were moving into unionism.

The racketeers who had been cut down by repeal of the 18th amendment were one crowd. The international Communists were the other. The latter were called on by John L. Lewis to organize the CIO at its inception, and they were reluctant to move out when the job had been done.

However, with the help of the government, the Communists have been put on the defensive and kept there. The greater problem now is the racketeers — and their turn has come.

If a Senate investigation were to split unionism into two parts — the bona fide unions in one part, the racketeers in the other, it would be the best break unionists ever had.

For the first time in the history of unionism in America, all unionists would not be tarred with the same stick. There would be two categories of unions and unionists — those interested in improving the condition of working people and those interested in improving the condition of people exploiting working people.

Air Lanes
An air collision over a school, with two children dead and upward of 80 injured has set off an angry reaction in Van Nuys, Calif.

Those who peer into the future of aviation have something to look at they would prefer not to see. There will be hazards as well as benefits. Human beings will be frightened as well as pleased by the evolution of airplanes.

They became so frightened in Newark that it became necessary to restrict flight operations at a major airport by establishing air lanes.

The damage being done by the incredible noise of jet engines is a major problem in the vicinity of airports. Ever since the early days when barnstormers irked the local citizenry by buzzing the town to whoop up business, there has been a strain of misgiving running through the hymns of praise for aviation.

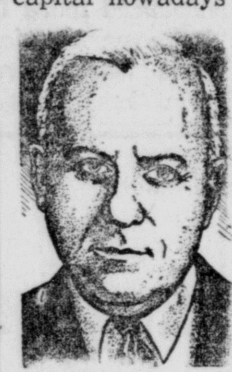

Perhaps the hazards and nuisances of aviation will have to be added to the sum total of hazards and nuisances, with no hope of relief. But remembering the evolution of the automobile, no one will want to bet that aviation will not generate a whole new set of restrictions and regulations imposed by public demand. Some of them will be unreasonable.

Slipshot Budgeting

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Little Attention Paid To Huge Expenditures

If this correspondent were asked to say what is really the biggest news development in the national capital nowadays and yet the one that is being given relatively little attention, it would be the story that surrounds the federal budget involving 72 billion dollars of expenditure.

The recent incident in which Secretary Humphrey expressed his chagrin at the size of the spending program submitted to Congress by the President was generally assumed at first to be merely a difference of opinion between a cabinet officer and the chief executive. But the President said it wasn't.

What was behind it really was a sense of frustration over the invisible influences that force items into the budget which the nation cannot afford.

The popular impression is that the secretary of the treasury makes up the budget and that the president then sends it on to Congress. Actually, under existing law, the secretary of the treasury has nothing to do with the proposed expenditures listed in the budget. He is commanded by law merely to furnish estimates of incoming revenue and to propose ways and means of raising money if there is a deficit.

As for the individual items of expenditure in the budget, he doesn't see them in advance and has no more to do with their inclusion in the budget — outside of his own department — than does secretary of the interior or any other cabinet officer.

AMERICA'S irresponsible budget system, its weaknesses and its failures constitute a serious problem, yet, because it is an unspectacular subject and involves such a wide variety of items, the public doesn't come to grips with it.

In fact, no concentrated attention is given to the spending programs as a whole even in the executive branch of the government except in the office of the president. This is a full-time job and a president cannot give it detailed attention.

As a practical matter, what this means is that the director of the budget collates the data and is in a position to explain to the president what each item means. But the budget is by law made the responsibility of the president and not of any member of the cabinet.

Also, there is no way by which a president can judge or be advised about the relative importance of one item to another in the entire picture.

He is aware of what the pressure groups want. He knows that his cabinet officers are under pressure, too, and that often they are convinced that their items should be approved.

But who makes a studied judgment of the budget as a whole in terms of what the nation can or cannot afford? Nobody — not even the secretary of the treasury.

THE PRESIDENT cannot know in advance what pressure groups will influence Congress the most. Last year Congress authorized a billion dollars more than the President and the armed services asked for.

Employees of the executive departments are forbidden by regulation to ask Congress directly for funds in excess of the budget recommendations. But Congress can hold hearings and draw from the officials of the executive branch information indicating that they really need such an excess.

Back in the Coolidge administration, when Herbert Hoover was secretary of commerce, the sharp difference between the administration and a cabinet officer was revealed when, in answering questions on Capitol Hill, Mr. Hoover and his director of foreign commerce practically admitted they couldn't carry out their functions with the small amount of money recommended.

Considerable progress has been made to prevent the officials of the executive branch from going to Congress to get more money but little or nothing has been done to encourage Congress to cut a federal budget.

Thus, Secretary Humphrey, who announced that the budget seemed to him too high and that too much money was being spent, was regarded as saying something sensational or at least novel. Actually he was not dealing with the specific items in a budget he did not himself make up but was expressing an opinion on the philosophy of high spending.

THE PRESIDENT indicated later that the memorandum issued at Mr. Humphrey's press conference, giving general comments on the budget problem, had been approved at the White House. In fact, it is known the document was read and endorsed by the whole cabinet. It was a statement of principles which it was hoped Congress would take into account.

It was like saying: "Here's our detailed budget but we hope you can find ways to cut it. This is really your responsibility."

After all, many items of expenditure are included that are based on laws and policies created by Congress itself in previous years. The president can't repeal such financial obligations.

Under our Constitution, the authority to appropriate money is vested in Congress alone. Under the British and Canadian system, the executive makes the budget and sends it to Parliament, where it must be approved or disapproved as an entity. That's a responsible system.

But in the case of England and Canada, the executive and legislative are controlled by the same party and there is a singleness of responsibility.

Nowhere in modern government is there such a glaring example of irresponsibility as in the slipshod way the American budget is put together and authorized by Congress — and now it involves 72 billion dollars a year. It is something for the nation to begin to understand or, as Mr. Humphrey says, one of these days there will be a depression that "will curl your hair."

Banks Putting On Weight

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's big banks are putting on more weight. This is a sidelight of the banking scene as governmental reviews of financial and banking policies are talked up.

There are now 21 with assets of one billion dollars or more each—one more than a year ago. Together the assets of the 21 total 62½ billion dollars, a gain in the year of 1½ billion.

Nineteen of these banks also have deposits in excess of one billion dollars. But many report total deposits lower than a year ago and some have raised the interest rates they pay in an attempt to lure savers back.

Their loans and profits have grown much more than their assets. This is true of most banks.

Commercial and industrial loans of member banks reporting to the federal reserve system—include banks of all sizes—rose by 18 per cent during 1956 to a record 30½ billion dollars.

Since interest rates on loans rose during the year, too, the earnings of the banks swelled by 10 to 20 per cent. When deposits weren't high enough to supply the money needed to meet the demands of business for loans, banks sold some of their government securities to raise cash. This helped depress the price of these bonds during the latter part of the year.

The top 21 are scattered across the country. Eight are in New York, three in San Francisco, two each in Chicago, Philadelphia and Detroit, and one each in Boston, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Los Angeles.

Eight of the 21 reported a very slight dip in total assets in the year, but the other 13 gained enough to more than offset this.

The West Coast's giant Bank of America with its wide flung branch system leads as it has for several years. Its assets climbed 322 million dollars in the year to total just under 10 billion.

Five New York banks follow, each with assets of three billion dollars or more.

In the two billion asset class are First National of Chicago, Continental Illinois of Chicago, National of Detroit.

This year's newcomer to the list of one billion dollars or more is Detroit Bank and Trust.

Prospects for continued profit gains are bright, with credit demand high and interest rates firm. Chances of increasing total deposits aren't that bright, with strong competition from other types of investment for the savers' dollars.

Hardly The Man To Kick Around

National Guard Touchy Subject

By JAY G. HAYDEN

In branding as "very unwise" Secretary Wilson's characterization of some enlistees in the National Guard as draft dodgers, President Eisenhower no doubt had in mind the peculiar tenderness of Congress toward that persisting remnant of state militia.

It is not too much to predict that even after the President's pointed repudiation, the Wilson pronouncement has ended any chance for passage of a requirement for six months full time basic training for national guardsmen, which the administration for two years has been urging.

The sufferers from that omission may be a lot of boys called up for regular draft because of escape by others by way of the National Guard detail.

As to its legislative effect, this latest of Secretary Wilson's many verbal pop-offs compares closely with President Truman's assertion in 1950 that the Marine Corps had "a propaganda machine that is almost equal to Stalin's."

Mr. Truman hastened to apologize for what he termed that "unfortunate choice of language" but to no effect on Congress, which used his remarks as excuse for bolstering the Marines far beyond the Defense Department's recommendation.

THE NATIONAL GUARD has been known over the years as even more a congressional pet. The reason in its case is that whereas its cost of maintenance comes mainly from the federal treasury, its management, including control over many lucrative patronage appointments, remains with state governors.

Whenever any attempt is made either to increase obligations of National Guardsmen, or for national as against state control over them, there arises a mighty political outcry.

Thus there was an immediate state and local revulsion to the Defense Department's recommendation that National Guard personnel, like all other types of army reservists, be required to spend an initial six months in basic training.

Secretary Wilson, on the other hand, says in effect that unless the National Guard can be raised to the same standard as other reserve units it may destroy not only itself but the whole reserve system.

The present controversy goes back to 1955, when Congress after many months of hot debate rejected an administration recommendation for a firm six months basic training requirement for armed service enlistees, all alike.

President Eisenhower renewed the fracas two weeks ago when he asked Congress to make National Guard recruits liable to the six months training beginning next April 1.

SECRETARY WILSON'S spilling of the beans came when he appeared before the House Committee on Armed Services in defense of the President's recommendation.

The existing preference of national guardsmen, compared with other army novitiates, Mr. Wilson said, is "a sort of scandal, a draft dodging business, developed in National Guard enlistments during the Korean war."

President Eisenhower disputed the Wilson contention to the extent of declaring that the men who joined the National Guard certainly could not have been slackers when they entered the Guard in accordance with established provision of law.

But, the President said, he himself had struggled for years to make the Guard a first line of defense and it was never going to be that kind of force, "a force needed by this country in a day of increasingly complex and more deadly weapons, until the government could have these National Guard units undergo six months of hard, efficient and basic training."

ALTOGETHER, the effect of Mr. Eisenhower's statement was a commendation for Mr. Wilson's stand; except only that he wished his defense secretary would stop saying things in a way that raised unshared hell.

Mr. Wilson has had many of what he himself once termed instances of "foot-in-mouth disease." One of his most egregious, because it occurred shortly before the 1954 congressional election, was a treatise on dogs.

Talking in Detroit of unemployment then prevailing in that city, Mr. Wilson said:

"I have always liked bird dogs rather than kennel dogs. You know, you'll go out and hunt for food rather than sit on his fanny and yell."

Mr. Wilson has not yet lived down that one and his reference to draft dodgers may prove worse.

Apropos of Britain, France and Israel, it seems to me they have reminded millions of Americans who formerly were starry-eyed that nations have no real friends. All they ever can hope to have is traveling companions until they come to the place where the other nation turns off.

In view of the annual rise in tuition costs in private colleges, I can see no reason why tax-supported colleges should be making their services available at bargain prices — thanks to tax-payers. College education is not compulsory; those who take advantage of it should pay for it.

It is my staunch personal hunch that I could pick the Communist suspects out of a lineup according to their facial features.

The only way to change another person's mind where you are having a difference of opinion is to encourage him to talk about his point of view. If he talks long enough, he will admit there is merit on your side of the issue too.

Stassen Post-Mortem

It has been a long time since Harold Stassen had any status in this country as a political expert. Most of his Republican colleagues no longer take him seriously in this field.

Probably he did not add to his position when he said recently that Vice President Nixon's presence on the 1956 GOP ticket cost the Republicans control of both houses of Congress.

Stassen said that if former Massachusetts Gov. Christian Herter had been on the slate it would have helped more state and local tickets to victory.

Most politicians will look upon this as foolish talk, largely because it is idle opinion. It can neither be proved nor disproved, and it involves many variables which for all practical purposes render it useless.

When ghost writers catch the right spirit it makes pretty good reading.

Dear Uncle Sam: If Tito comes to the U.S. as so frequently rumored you had better go easy with the welcome mat. He is no proven friend and the best that can be said for him so far is that he is half a friend, or nearly so.

While half a friend is better than none in this world of frosty fellowships we should give our welcome mats the best of it and not jauntily roll them out for overtime work on all strolling dictators.

THERE COULD BE some embarrassing moments and even some disturbances if Tito visits you, since most people have him pegged as anything but a lover of free governments, freedom of religion, freedom of the individual or even freedom of bus transfers.

There is nothing about him to stir up cheers as a champion of free assembly, free speech or free dishes at movie matinees.

TITO HAS the physical build and the personality that helps out in receptions and parades. He photographs well. But he got his training under Joe Stalin, goes into huddles with the present Soviet leaders without a struggle and couldn't even join in a simple expression of pity for the Hungarians slaughtered, sent to prison camps or driven across the sea as refugees.

In photos Tito seems to look like a composite of Goering, Old Joe Stalin, certain professional wrestlers on TV and the Metro Goldwyn Mayer movie lion. I may be wrong.

It could be that he can and will help our side when the chips are down and maybe this is not a fight in which we have to put to a severe character test everybody who might play ball with us.

Still he would look awfully out of place in the White House or in any welcome parades in Washington or New York, especially should the band play "Love Me Tender." You have got to be very careful of your guest list this year, Sam. The world is confused enough.

Yours truly,
Elmer

Don Rarick Claims McDonald Asked Him To Quit Race

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Don C. Rarick, who is running against incumbent David J. McDonald for the presidency of the United Steelworkers, says McDonald talked with him at a pre-arranged meeting in a nearby motel last Dec. 31 and asked him to drop out of the race.

Rarick said Sunday that Armand Carlomagno, president of Local 123 of the Taxi Cab drivers, drove him to the motel where they met McDonald.

"McDonald talked with me for a while and promised me a job," Rarick said in a statement to newsmen. "He did not say what it would be except that nobody would have any jurisdiction over me except himself."

"McDonald then wrote a statement and asked me to sign it," Rarick said. "The statement said in so many words that I was a good union man and had the utmost respect for McDonald as a leader and in the interest of the union I was withdrawing my candidacy against him."

"I stalled on signing," Rarick continued. "I said there were others involved in my candidacy and also I wanted to talk it over with my wife because I never do anything without consulting her."

Neither McDonald nor Carlomagno were immediately available for comment. McDonald was still in Florida where he attended the AFL-CIO Executive Council meeting last week.

Rarick, 37, of nearby McKeesport, heads the so-called "dues protest committee," which is sponsoring a slate of candidates in the USW election of Feb. 12.

The committee was formed to protest an increase in the steelworkers monthly dues from $3 to $5.

Gets Non-Existant Job, Man Tries To Sue For A Salary

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—It started last November when E. L. Thomson and Mrs. Thomson ran on opposite sides of the ticket for the non-existent job of county school superintendent.

County schools were abolished years ago when the city school system grew. The post of superintendent, because of a state law, remained on the ballot but was never sought previously.

After election Thomson announced he thought the job was worth $7,200 a year and he would sue to get it.

When his first $600 check failed to arrive after Jan. 31 he found himself without anyone to sue.

His attorneys have petitioned district court to appoint a county school board so that Thomson sue it for his salary.

Girl Killed, 3 Hurt When Plane Crashes

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—An 18-year-old college girl, flying back to school after a weekend in Ohio, was killed Sunday when the plane crashed in a wooded area about 10 miles north of here.

Two of her companions and the plane's pilot were injured.

Police identified the dead girl as Frieda Hensler of Irwin, Pa. Injured were Ralph D. Fox, 40, the pilot, of Elyria, Ohio, his daughter, Ruth, 18, and Mary Taliak, 18, of Parma, Ohio.

Police said the three girls were students at Allegheny College in Meadville, Pa. They had been visiting the Fox home in Ohio.

Fox's cabin plane, a Cessna, apparently went too low in an attempt to get under a low ceiling and crashed when Fox tried a landing, officers said.

Sweet, smooth and sassy—that's Chevrolet all over. Above, you're looking at the Bel Air Sport Coupe.

Clings to the road like a stripe of paint!

The '57 Chevy can give lessons on taking curves and holding the road to just about any car going. Few cars at any price are so beautifully balanced and so smooth, sure and solid in action.

A car has to have a special kind of build and balance to keep curves under control. And nobody outdoes Chevrolet in that department! It "corners" with all the solid assurance of an honest-to-goodness sports car. Chevy doesn't throw its weight around on turns because it carries its pounds in the right places.

And if the road should turn upward, Chevy can take care of that nicely, too—with up to 245 h.p.*

Come on in and take a turn at the wheel of a new Chevrolet.

Mrs. Charles Pinney

Cameron-Pinney Nuptials Held In Presbyterian Church

Miss Barbara Elizabeth Cameron and Charles Pinney pledged their marriage vows Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in the First Presbyterian Church. Rev. A. Laten Carter, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Holland William Cameron of Beechwood Road and the late Clara Patton Cameron. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Mabel Pinney of Zaleski and the late Perry Judd Pinney.

Palms and ferns flanked the aisle to the altar, which was enhanced with twin vases of white flowers. Tapers in candelabra lighted the chancel.

Miss Gloria Andrews of Salem sang "I'll Walk With God." "You Are Love" and "Oh, Perfect Love." Miss Anna Cook presided at the organ.

Mr. Cameron gave his daughter in marriage. Her formal white gown was fashioned with a fitted lace bodice designed with a sabrina neckline and long pointed sleeves. The bouffant skirt of tulle with lace points ending in a chapel train was worn over satin, hoops and crinolines.

A crown of lace and iridescent sequins held in place the finger-tied veil of silk illusion. Her bridal bouquet was a white orchid encircled with stephanotis and showered with white satin streamers and stephanotis buds.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Hubert Love of Clayton, Delaware, was matron of honor. Her mauve pink gown was fashioned of tulle and crisp organza over taffeta. It was designed with a scoop neckline, fitted bodice and short sleeves. A mauve pink taffeta cummerbund ended in long streamers.

Another sister, Miss Kathryn Cameron, junior bridesmaid, wore a gown identical to that worn by the matron of honor.

The bridesmaids were Miss Marilyn Cameron, sister of the bride, and Miss Cecile Pittenger of Cincinnati, college roommate of the bride. Their orchid dresses with orchid cummerbunds were fashioned like those of the other attendants.

The attendants all carried cascades of violets and feathered carnations with streamers to match their gowns and headbands with short veils.

Charles Burley of Athens was best man. Jon Mac Anderson of Delroy, Peter Kostas of Cleveland, Richard Gibson of Lima and Richard Plank of Cleveland ushered.

The bride's aunt, Miss Clara Cameron, complemented her lavender crepe dress with a corsage of white carnations.

The bridegroom's mother was attired in a blue flecked grey dress. She, too, wore a white carnation corsage.

Miss Laverne Snyder, a roommate of the bride, registered the 200 guests from Cleveland, Salem, Athens, Columbus, Dayton and Zaleski, who attended the reception at the church following the ceremony.

A figurine depicting a bride and bridegroom standing beneath a flowered trellis with wedding bells topped the three-tiered wedding cake.

Miss Fran Isaly, Miss Dierdre Reynolds, Miss Sally Risbeck, Miss Marilyn Dodge and Miss Verna Gaglione served.

A graduate of Salem High School, the bride has completed her sophomore year in medical technology at Ohio University.

The bridegroom is a sales engineer at the Reliance Electric and Engineering Co., Cleveland.

For traveling to the honeymoon destination, the bride chose a princess dress of grey winter cotton with a tight fitting waist-length jacket. She used black accessories and wore the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

The couple will reside at 3336 Cedarbrook Road, Cleveland Heights until June, when they will move to San Antonio, Texas, where the bridegroom will be assigned as a second lieutenant in the Air Force.

A school lunch box might contain a sandwich of peanut butter mixed with crumbled bacon and mayonnaise and spread on whole wheat bread.

The annual casserole dinner for members of the Damascus Magazine Club was held at the home of Mrs. C. G. Long Wednesday.

Responses to roll call were answered by each person giving "Dues and Dots for the New Year" with eighteen in attendance.

Dues for the coming year were accepted and bills were ordered paid.

The 1957 program committee composed of Mrs. Ralph Steer, chairman, Mrs. C. E. Hobson, Mrs. Andrew Filp and Mrs. Clyde Baker gave a demonstration of their meetings while preparing the years program.

The program committee also assisted the hostess in serving the dinner. The next meeting Feb. 27 at 2 p.m. will be held at the home of Mrs. Ralph Steer.

Brownie Scout Troop 3 with the leaders, Mrs. Orville Blythe and Mrs. Charles Duriga, met in the High School building after school Tuesday.

Susan Buehler, president, led the girls in repeating the Lord's Prayer in opening the meeting, and read a short story. Vice president Faye Barnett marked the attendance with each girl giving the Brownie Promise.

Eva Ann Williamson accepted the dues in the absence of the treasurer, Betty Beatty. The leaders then assisted the girls in making doll beds from shoe boxes.

Games were enjoyed and songs were sung, and the meeting closed by singing "Taps."

The Girl Scout Promise was given by Girl Scout Troop 2 in opening the meeting Wednesday after school in the Methodist Church, with Jean Baker, president.

The attendance was recorded by Vice President, Linda Bush, and the dues were accepted by Diane Broomall.

The meeting was transferred to Mrs. Orville Blythe, leader, who called on Karen Kerr to explain

WOOL, IN WONDERFULLY light weights, goes into spring for day-time. It's shown here in three designs, each offering a completely different and fresh silhouette. Gossamer-weight wool costume by Pauline Trigere (left) is in sand beige, has small shaped and curved jacket. It's cut to emphasize a striped, coordinated blouse. Sheer chiffon worsted sheath dress is worn (center) with muted check cape-jacket in another costume from this designer. Cape-jacket is lined in taffeta. Light weight tweed suit from Monte-Sano and Pruzan (right) has bloused jacket that ties at waist. The color is turquoise.

the formation of clouds in the nature study.

Mrs. Blythe then assisted part of the girls on the needlecraft badge; and Mrs. Duriga also leader, and Karen Kerr taught five girl scout songs to the other girls.

Paula Root and Sandra Sherwood brought treats for the group. The meeting closed with "Taps."

It was decided to have a formal party April 12, and it was also decided to send for a playbook. Games were enjoyed and lunch was served with 14 in attendance. Mrs. Chester Stanley is assistant teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. James McClaren received word of the birth of a daughter to their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William McClaren of Salem Thursday in the Central Clinic Hospital in Salem. The baby has been named Carol Louise.

Concert Assn. Scts Membership Drive

The board of directors of the Northern Columbiana County Community Concerts Association met Thursday evening in the Presbyterian Church parlor to plan the spring membership campaign.

Don Witham, New York representative of Columbia Artists Management, will assist the Salem workers again this season. Walter Null, president of the local organization, announced the tentative date for the campaign will be the week of April 8. Charles F. Fox, vice president of the group will be campaign chairman.

This non-profit organization is completing its 10th year of service to the community. So far this season, members have enjoyed Leonard Pennard, young American virtuoso, and the Robert Joffrey Theater Dancers.

On Wednesday evening, Feb. 13, the Tucson Arizona Boys Chorus, will appear in the Salem High School auditorium. This group of 30 boys will present a program of classics, carols, folk songs, Mexican novelties and westerns.

Theresa Green, a vocalist, will close the 1956-57 season.

19 Persons Die In Ohio Mishaps

14 Are Victims Of Road Accidents

By The Associated Press
Nineteen persons died in accidents in Ohio during the weekend. An Associated Press survey, which began Friday at 6 p.m. and ended Sunday at midnight, showed that fourteen of these died in traffic mishaps.

The other five included an exposure victim, two persons who died in falls down basement stairs, a young man who accidentally shot himself and the victim of an unvented gas heater.

The fatalities:
Friday night:
Mrs. John B. Mayes, 56, found dead near her daughter's home near Winchester, apparently an exposure victim.

Saturday:
Dean Starcher, 22, when struck by a car in Crooksville, Perry County.

Roy W. Cook, 32, Cincinnati, when his car hit the rear of a truck in Sharonville.

Leo Hamilton, 30, Dayton, when his car hit a tree in Montgomery County.

Junius McWhite, 23, and Chris Williams, 6, both of Cleveland, when the car in which they were riding went out of control on U.S. 42 five miles north of Medina and hit a coal truck.

Thomas W. Berry, 40, and his wife, Elsie, of Barboursville, in a truck-car collision on U.S. 224 west of Randolph, Portage County.

Michael Comber, 38, Kent, when his car hit a truck and then bounced into another car on Ohio 14 northwest of Streetsboro, Portage County.

Harry R. Spencer, 46, Dayton, when his car left the road west of Dayton and hit a tree.

Thomas Eppens, 47, Norwood, of injuries suffered in a fall down basement stairs in his home.

Mrs. Paul Hollis (age unavailable), Archbold, Fulton County, in a two-car collision on a county road near Wauseon.

Mrs. Clara Sterling, 68, Cincinnati, of injuries from a fall down basement stairs in her home.

Sunday:
Paul E. Shepard, 30, Rt. 2, Wellington, of injuries suffered when his car crashed into a concrete bridge abutment on Ohio 14 a mile east of Penfield.

Everett Roy Thomas, 21, Mason, when he inadvertently pulled the trigger of a revolver he was demonstrating.

James L. Russell, 26, Billy O'Neill, 21, and Bobby Jean Rudd, 20, all of Toledo, when their car crashed into a semi-trailer truck on Ohio 51 about five miles north of Genoa.

Lawrence Jensen, 36, Williston, of carbon monoxide poisoning from an unvented heater in his home.

WIRED FOR DREAMS— Volunteer subject at the Sleep Research Institute in New York City dreams away her tour of duty while tiny electrodes, attached to various skin surfaces of her body, transmit electric waves generated by the brain, heart rate and body temperature. The minute currents pass through the panel on the head of the bed and are recorded as part of a continuing, 11-year study of the mystery of sleep. Readings have been taken while hundreds of men and women have rapped up a total, to date, of more than 20,000 sleeping hours in some 3,500 nights of study.

Two Robbers Net $8,000 From Dairy

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Police today hunted a pair of bandits who spent two hours early Sunday in a dairy robbery that netted about $8,000 in cash and checks.

Police said the men entered the home of dairy manager William F. Dallman on a ruse and held his wife at gunpoint while Dallman was forced to open the dairy safe.

The manager said the men told him they were headed for Cleveland after the robbery.

Police said Dallman told this story:

After entering the house on pretext of using the telephone, the men waited for two confederates that never arrived. Finally, one man drove Dallman to the dairy office, while the other guarded Mrs. Dallman.

The manager was forced to open the safe and then was returned to his home. He and his wife were bound and gagged with towels before the men left.

The couple was able to loosen the towels and call their 14-year-old son to free them.

Did you ever notice how many self-styled "stock market experts" there are in your neighborhood — people who "know" what the market will do in six months or a year from now?

Then maybe you've noticed, too, that there are just as many "experts" on real estate, who "know" that real estate prices will be up or down or what-have-you at some given time in the future.

Don't listen to these people. Don't even listen to any real estate man who tries to make such predictions. He doesn't know what the real estate market is going to do, and the very best he could provide would be an informed guess. If you want to buy or sell according to an informed guess, that's your privilege. But don't get the idea that you are being given some "inside information."

The only safe prediction anybody can make about real estate prices is that they will always have their ups and downs as long as they are not subjected to some sort of arbitrary government control.

The reason I bring this point up is that a few people seem hesitant these days about buying houses or other property because some "expert" has leaned over the back fence and told them the real estate market is going to drop.

That's a safe prediction, in one way, because the market IS going to drop at some time in the future. And the opposite prediction is equally true. But nobody knows which will happen when.

So if you are depriving yourself and your family of the pleasures of home ownership, I hope for your sake that you have better reasons than any that can be provided by a back-fence expert who may have told you to wait.

Scotsman Hears Things Other People Can't

PRESTWICK, Scotland (AP)— Strange voices kept hounding Allan Orr in the still of the night as he sat alone in his hotel room.

He brought friends in to listen. They heard nothing but Orr, who is partly deaf, insisted he did. He said some of the voices had American accents and some of the babble included such phrases as "Roger and out." The friends smiled tolerantly.

Friday night Orr met a U.S. Air Force man at the hotel bar and told him the story. The American had an idea. He asked Orr for his hearing aid, plugged it in his own ear and waited. Sure enough he heard a splutter of words and "Roger and out."

The hearing aid was picking up messages from the control tower at nearby Prestwick Airport. Orr said he will trade in the hearing device.

Greenlease Ransom Money Back In News

ST. LOUIS (AP)— The recurrent puzzle of the missing $300,000 in Greenlease ransom money popped up again over the weekend in published reports here.

The Globe-Democrat reported the FBI was investigating a theory that the money was spirited away in two pillow cases from the suburban motel where kidnapper Carl Austin Hall stayed the night before his arrest here.

The newspaper said the theory depends for confirmation on a mystery witness authorities reportedly seek. He was described only as a "trucking firm executive."

Hall and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady were executed for slaying 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease of Kansas City.

Less than half of the original $600,000 ransom turned up in Hall's luggage when he was arrested.

It makes 'em Stare-anywhere!

You see it any place...and you want to look at it. There's a pride and a prance to it that gives you a lift, makes you feel alive and vital. But the real tingle is driving it!

There it is... as long and low and purposeful as a gleaming jet, with its long rakish fenders streaming back and up like battle flags. This is the dynamic new look of 1957 motoring, and we can't help it if others aren't there yet. Give 'em time—we always have.

The important thing to know is that every flowing "go" line in this 1957 Chrysler has a purpose. That low-slung body and upswep tail were engineered for a new kind of road stability. They are the architectural results of Chrysler's Torsion-Air ride, the all-new suspension that gives you sports car cornering with the comfort of an ocean liner.

Front coil springs have been completely eliminated. There's up to 56% more glass area to enhance its roomy feel. The wide, low grille features hooded dual headlights. And if you want to find out what "go" really is, wait till you boss its up-to-325 horsepower engine and pushbutton TorqueFlite transmission. The real tingle is waiting for you. Liston C. Bower HANOVERTON — Mrs. Jennie Bower received word Sunday of the death of her brother-in-law, Liston C. Bower of Glacier, Wash.

Surviving is a brother, Marion of Damascus. A brother, E. E. Bower of Hanoverton, preceded him in death.

Baking a meat loaf? Then grate some carrots fine and pile them into a baking dish with about a quarter cup of water, a little butter, salt and pepper to taste. Cover the carrots and bake in a moderate oven — the temperature at which meat loaf is usually baked — until tender. This usually takes about 20 minutes, so put the carrots in the oven toward the end of the meat-loaf baking time.

Seek Limit On Campaign Gifts

Revision Of U.S. Election Laws Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) said today he is drafting legislation to limit the amount any single individual can contribute to political campaigns in any year.

Without direct reference to Gore's announcement, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the majority leader, predicted Congress will act on "a comprehensive revision of the election laws."

Gore headed a Senate Elections subcommittee which reported during the weekend that the 1956 general election cost at least $33,187,725.

That was the total only of "direct expenditures" the subcommittee said it could trace down. The actual outlay, it added, "far surpasses that figure."

One Gave $73,164
Total contributions from individual persons ran as high as the $73,164 reported by Lansell K. Christie of New York.

Under present laws, an individual can contribute up to $5,000 each to as many committees as he chooses.

Gore and Sen. Mansfield of Montana, a vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, joined in a formal report which contended that Republicans outspent Democrats about 2-1 last year.

They said that on the basis of figures reported to the subcommittee, Republicans laid out $20,685,387 to $10,977,790 spent by the Democrats. Sen. Curtis (R-Neb.), third member of the subcommittee, challenged these figures.

Curtis said in a minority report that the figures were incomplete and inaccurate, especially with regard to organized labor's expenditures in the campaign.

Cite Heavy Expenditures
The committee said in its voluminous report that a special study ought to be made of the activities of labor unions and corporations in campaigns.

The senators said their own study disclosed "heavy campaign expenditures by persons affiliated with big business and large vested interests, and by wealthy individuals, on the one hand, and organized labor, on the other, the contributions of the former being largely to Republican committees and candidates, and of the latter almost entirely to Democratic committees and candidates."

The report said this shows "an unhealthy state of political affairs that may grow worse instead of better unless remedial action is taken by Congress."

The expenditures of labor's political action committees, totaling $941,271, the subcommittee said, were spent almost entirely on behalf of candidates of the Democratic party. On the other hand, 12 selected wealthy families contributed $1,040,526 to Republican candidates and committees and only $107,109 to Democratic candidates.

The families named were the Du Ponts, Fields, Fords, Harrimans, Lehmanns, Mellons, Ollins, Pews, Reynolds, Rockefeller, Vanderbilts and Whiteys.

The report said 73 members of the Du Pont family gave $248,423, all the Republicans.

Of Christie's $73,164 contribution, topping the list, $70,564 went to the Democrats and the remainder to miscellaneous committees. Second largest among the individual contributors was Mrs. Charles S. (Joan Whitney) Payson, who gave the Republicans $65,050.

Radio-TV costs were listed at $7,056,053, with the GOP total $4,036,935, the Democrats $2,971,143, and splinter parties or nonpartisans $47,975.

Israel

A usually well-informed Arab source told a reporter he thought Egypt would consent to the presence of the U.N. troops along the Gulf of Aqaba and also would refrain from a blockade on the gulf, at least temporarily.

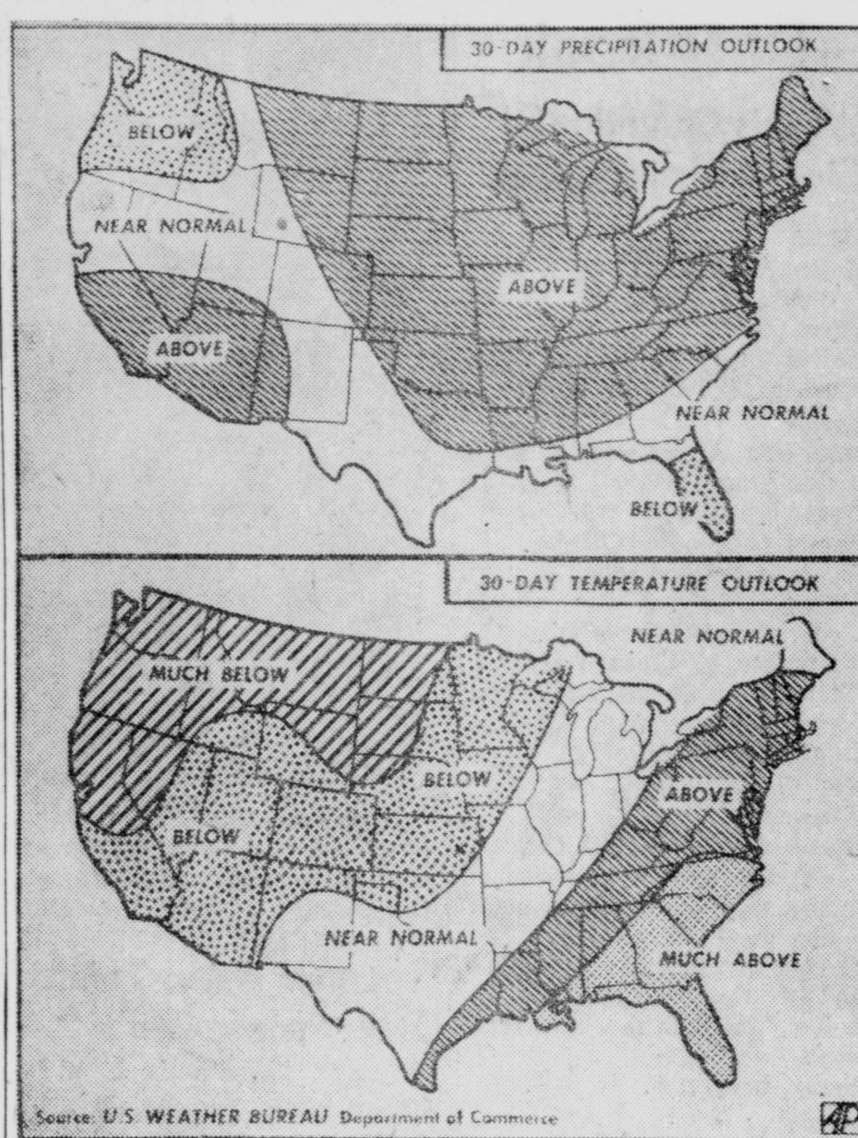

Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi sounded less cooperative in the windup of the Assembly debate. He said the police force should remain "exclusively on both sides" of the armistice line and not settle any question of "freedom of passage in territorial waters."

The strip, haven for some 200,000 Palestine Arab refugees, is former Palestine territory that Egypt administered provisionally before Israel began its invasion Oct. 29. The Sharm el Sheikh coast is in Egypt's Sinai Desert.

U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief author of the Assembly resolutions, had said he could not "predict the consequences which may ensue if Israel fails to comply."

The Assembly voted on the resolution calling for the Israeli withdrawal was 74-2, with France and Israel opposing and the Netherlands abstaining. The resolution to extend the U.N. force's duties carried 56-0 with 22 abstainers—Arab and Soviet-bloc countries, France, Israel and the Netherlands.

400 Teachers Go On Strike; Schools Close

MANCHESTER, N. H. (AP)—The 400 public school teachers in this largest New Hampshire city went on strike in a wage dispute today and the city's 24 school buildings were closed.

"No classes are in session; they have been cancelled until this problem is settled," said School Supt. Dr. Augusta M. Nichols.

City officials prepared to ask for a temporary superior court restraining order forcing the teachers to return to work. The mayor said teachers are violating their contracts with the city.

Some of the city's 9,200 public school students reported to the schools this morning but they were sent home when no teachers appeared.

Dr. Nichols said classes had been scheduled despite a warning by the Manchester Teachers Guild that no teachers would report.

By an 8 to 5 vote, the school board issued a last-minute order that the teachers would be placing their contracts in jeopardy if they failed to appear.

The guild said the teachers would not report to the city's 2 high schools and 22 elementary schools after last minute attempts to negotiate a wage increase collapsed Sunday night.

About two weeks ago the mayor and Board of Aldermen gave all city employees a 10 per cent wage boost but the teachers said it wasn't enough money. They sought about 17 per cent.

The teachers demand the following maximum salaries: Teachers with a master's degree, $5,300; with a bachelor's degree, $5,000; no college degree, $4,700.

Present maxima for the three categories are: $4,414; $4,214 and $4,014.

Midland, Pa., Man Gets Prison Term

LISBON — Judge Joel H. Sharp today sentenced Robert Monroe, 31, of Midland, Pa. to two terms of one to 20 years in the Ohio State Penitentiary on eight counts of forgery. The terms are to be served concurrently.

Prior to the sentencing, Monroe changed his plea of innocent to guilty and requested leniency.

A jury of three men and nine women was seated in the case of Michael W. Spack of Depot Road, Salem, indicted for driving while intoxicated, by the January Grand Jury.

He was arrested by the Salem police and received a preliminary hearing before Mayor Dean Cranmer.

The jury includes: Roberta Yontz, Donald Baxter, Katherine Dray of East Liverpool; Robert Cook, Wellsville; Nadine Knisely, Salem; Evelyn Scharf, West Point; E. A. Fishel and Dorothy Cowden, East Rochester; Elaine Hurd, Lisbon RD 3; Martha Cullison, Homeworth; Esther Edgerton, Winona; and Dorothy Mercer, Salineville.

Clara Thorn, East Liverpool was named alternate.

Two Auto Mishaps Are Reported Here

Two minor auto collisions took place on city streets Saturday and Sunday.

Cars driven by Paul Hannay, 21, of 1014 E. State St. and William Goetz, 23, of 714 Newgarden Ave. collided on E. State St., near Ellsworth Ave. Sunday at 12:30 a.m.

A mail truck driven by Ray Abrams Jr., 22, of 241 Vine St. skidded on the ice and struck a utility pole at the intersection of Homewood Ave. and Aetna St. Saturday at 11:30 a.m.

As an alternative to sugar, orange marmalade and honey both make good sweeteners.

National Furniture Sold To Jack Harroff

Mrs. S. Y. Winder has sold the National Furniture Store at 257 E. State, to Jack Harroff, Mrs. Winder announced today.

The store has been owned by the Winder family for 36 years.

Mr. Harroff will take over the store on Wednesday. He will retain the store's name and the same personnel.

Pilot Doesn't Know Cause of Airliner Crash

NEW YORK (AP)—Capt. Alva R. Marsh says he doesn't know what caused his airliner to crash 12 seconds after takeoff. The crash claimed 20 lives.

Marsh's account of the crash was relayed to newsmen Sunday by Alfred A. Lane, vice president of Northeast Airlines. The 48-year-old veteran pilot is being kept "in seclusion" by the airline at an undisclosed location.

"I didn't know anything was wrong," Marsh said, until copilot Basil Dixwell "informed me the ground was coming up at us."

"I was looking at the instruments at the time. They were all working properly," he added.

Marsh's Northeast Airlines plane, a giant DC6A with 101 persons aboard, crashed and burned Friday night on Rikers Island in the East River after taking off from LaGuardia Field.

More than half of the survivors were injured. Twenty-two remain in three hospitals, 11 of them on the critical list. Five victims were identified Sunday bringing to 13 the number identified thus far.

The Marsh account contrasted with earlier remarks attributed to him that he experienced a "loss of power" immediately after taking off for Miami, the plane's destination.

Marsh also had been quoted after the crash as saying he thought the airplane had struck a pole on the island.

too, being accused of making rebates to James.

Allied Industrial Workers — The Ethical Practices Committee charged that Angelo Inciso, head of the union's former Chicago local, took proceeds from an increased employers' insurance payment for employees without increasing benefits. The reports said Inciso and his bodyguards spent the money in lavish gifts.

Anthony Doria, secretary of the local and the national union, was implicated.

The AFL-CIO reports said Johnny Dio (Dioguardi) figured in the affairs of the locals and contributed money to them in a fashion that should have made the unions wary. Dio, an often-convicted racketeer, is under indictment for conspiracy in the acid-blinding of labor columnist Victor Riesel.

Representatives of the three unions were invited before the council to answer the charges.

Lisbon Mayor Fines

3 Motorists $225

LISBON — Three motorists were fined a total of $225 and costs Sunday by Mayor Wilbur Warren on traffic charges and another driver forfeited a $20 bond when he failed to appear for a hearing.

Joseph Frank of Lisbon RD 2 was fined $150 and costs and was given three days in jail for driving while intoxicated.

Lloyd J. Shaw, 50, of Hanoverton RD 1 was fined $50 and costs for reckless operation.

George E. Taylor, 31, of Lisbon RD 3, was fined $25 and costs for driving alone on a temporary permit.

Joseph A. Marshall, 28, of Indianapolis, Ind. forfeited the bond for driving left of center line.

3 Jailbreakers Nabbed After Long Chase

OAKLEY, Kan. (AP) — Three shaken young jailbreakers were captured Sunday night after a wild 350-mile flight through Nebraska and Kansas.

Roger Lofton, 17, Pensacola, Fla.; Larry Wray, 18, Denver, and Robert McQueen, 25, Grand Island, Neb., were separated today for safekeeping and put under heavy guard.

They had overpowered two sheriffs and stolen six cars.

The three escaped from the county jail at Topeka, Kan., Jan. 22, and from the county jail at Nebraska City, Neb., Saturday night. They were being held on burglary charges in both cases.

At Nebraska City they jumped Sheriff Ralph Hall and locked him in a cell after McQueen gained permission to make a telephone call. They took the sheriff's car, two pistols and a rifle.

Lofton said they were headed for Florida but overheard details of the pursuit on the sheriff's radio and turned southwest instead.

At Mankato, Kan., the trio captured Sheriff Lawrence Myers when he stopped them because their license plate was covered with mud.

They held the sheriff prisoner five hours while traveling another 110 miles. Near Hoxie, Kan., they took the sixth car from a farmer, leaving Sheriff Myers and the farmer handcuffed to the sheriff's car.

A few hours later trooper Harold Fleckenstein of the Kansas Highway Patrol jumped the trio near Oakley. They hit a ditch during the chase and narrowly missed going over a 30-foot cliff.

The three were captured at a nearby ravine. They offered no resistance although they carried two shotguns and two pistols.

4 Hurt In January Street Accidents

Four persons were injured on city streets during January. Police Chief George T. Earley revealed today in his monthly report.

Three were hurt in two-car accidents and one in an auto-pedestrian mishap.

There were 30 two-car accidents during the month, along with five auto-fixed object mishaps and two auto-pedestrian accidents.

Of the 34 arrests made during the month, nine were on drunk driving charges. Other arrests included eight, intoxication; three each, resisting arrest, reckless operation, failing to yield the right of way, and having no operator's license; two, assault and battery; and one each, disorderly conduct, speeding, and having fictitious plates.

Police investigated three cases of breaking and entering, three stolen cars reports, two of petit larceny and one of grand larceny.

During January deskmen answered 1,185 phone calls, 259 of which required further police attention. Police issued a total of 1,217 traffic tickets during the month, Earley reported.

Six County Men

Inducted Into Service

LISBON — Six county men left this morning by bus from the Columbiana County Draft Board at Lisbon for induction into the armed services at Cleveland, according to Elaine Griffith, clerk of the local board.

The men are: Raymond E. Householder and James Lawrence Monte of Wellsville; William Edward Hanes, of Glenmore; Oscar Thomas Summers of Alliance, formerly of Salem; Harry Lee Kornba of Leetonia RD 1; Shirley Charles Short of Belle, W. Va., formerly of Lisbon RD 4.

Seven men were also sent for physicals at the same time, Mrs. Griffith said.

THE OTHER WAY AROUND

A car driven by William Codey, 24, of Athens, O., struck the rear of an auto driven by Wayne Ward, 34, of the Benton Road, Friday at 5:51 p.m. at the intersection of W. State St. and Jennings Ave. It was erroneously reported in Saturday's edition that Ward's car had struck Codey's.

Joe McCarthy, Sam Crawford Voted Into Hall Of Fame

To Be Enshrined At Cooperstown

Ex-Yankee Manager Happy At Selection

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Marse Joe McCarthy and Wahoo Sam Crawford are the newest members of Baseball's Hall of Fame.

The jut-jawed Irishman who managed the New York Yankees to new heights without ever playing a game of major league ball and the left-handed outfielder who was a great power hitter in the "dead ball" days will be officially enshrined July 22 at Cooperstown, N.Y.

Paul Kerr, secretary of the 11-man veterans committee that picks new members on alternate years, announced the election of McCarthy and Crawford Sunday. There will be no further selections this year.

From Tonawanda, N. Y., came word that McCarthy was "very happy" over his selection. The 69-year-old retired manager has been living near Buffalo since he stepped down as skipper of the Boston Red Sox in 1950 because of poor health.

"Little did I think when I was in the minor leagues I would ever make the Hall of Fame," said McCarthy. "I certainly want to thank everyone who made it possible."

Crawford, who drew his nickname from his home town of Wahoo, Neb.; where he was born 76 years ago, was at his remote desert cabin at Pearblossom, Calif., his wife said, probably unaware of his selection.

McCarthy played second base and managed in the minors from 1906 to 1920, winning two pennants at Louisville, before he moved up to manage the Chicago Cubs in 1926.

When McCarthy moved to Yankee Stadium in 1931 he hit the jackpot. The Yanks won eight pennants and seven World Series under Marse Joe, four of each in succession from 1936 to 1939. Until Casey Stengel came along to make it five in a row from 1949 to 1953, that was tops.

Late in his career after Larry MacPhail took over the Yanks, McCarthy left the Yanks to retire. He came back a year later to take the Boston Red Sox job and held it from 1948 until the middle of 1950. In his entire managing career covering 32 years, only one McCarthy team finished in the second division, the 1922 Louisville club, which was sixth.

Crawford played with Cincinnati from 1899 to 1902 and with Detroit from 1903 to 1917, teaming with Ty Cobb in the outfield. His lifetime total of 96 homers looks meager in the modern age, but he was considered a power hitter in the "dead ball" days. In fact, he was the only man to lead both majors in homers, the National with 16 at Cincinnati in 1901 and the American with seven at Detroit in 1908. His lifetime total of 312 triples still is the major league record.

Zippers Take Lead In Ohio Conference

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State's invasion of Illinois and Indiana, in an attempt to stay atop the Big Ten standings, features this week's 53-game slate for the Buckeye State's collegiate cagers.

The Bucks, dropped 73-64 last week by Michigan State for their first conference loss in seven starts, have only a half-game edge over Purdue (5-1) while Illinois and Indiana are 3-2 going into tonight's frays. Purdue invades Michigan, also 3-2.

Akron Zippers eased into first place Saturday night in the turbulent Ohio Conference scrap as first place Denison was dumped 89-86 by Wooster, and second-place Mount Union fell to Capital 62-57. All except last-place Hiram saw action in the league last week, and seven clubs shifted positions in the standings.

The Zippers go against Wittenberg (5-2) at Springfield Wednesday, and the Lutherans, generally pretty happy on their own boards, could jumble the standings again. Akron is 4-1, and if the Zippers lose to Wittenberg five clubs could go around the Rubber City crew. The scrap is the tightest in years, and is just past the halfway mark, so at least, seven clubs have a chance at the crown.

Defiance defeated John Carroll by two points, and Wilmington by one, to move its statewide record to 13-1 and its Mid-Ohio loop mark to 9-0. All the other 39 teams have lost at least three times.

Last week's results were humiliating to the top-talented contingent. Of the leading 10 teams, seven went down to defeat as the clubs split even in 16 games. Only teams in the top 10 to escape the plague were Defiance, Akron and Youngstown, with the result that those squads are now 1-2-3 in the standings.

Twenty of the week's contests were against out-of-state opponents, and the Ohioans won just half of 'em to run their season's interstate record to 103 victories against 78 losses, with a 14,298 to 13,477 scoring edge. Host clubs had a fair week, winning 29 while losing 15. For the campaign the guests have been able to win only 114 while the hosts were grabbing 213, showing the advantage of familiar surroundings.

Miami's Redskins, victimized 84-72 by Xavier on the Oxford floor Saturday, gets back into Mid-American play this week after a long layoff by entertaining Western Michigan (2-4) Saturday. The Redskins, 7-0 for a long lead in the circuit, visit Dayton Thursday for a non-loop classic. Dayton, after an in-and-out start, picked up a pair last week by defeating DePaul 75-58 and Morehead 80-67. That ran the Flyers record to 11-7.

Of this week's 53 contests two are in the Western Conference, 11 in the Ohio, five in the Mid-American and four in the Mid-Ohio. Almost half, 26, are with out-of-state opponents, 13 at home and 13 on the road.

mission led 23-19. In the third stanza the Tool five increased their margin to 35-29.

Jeff Jeffries paced the winners with 17 markers, and Jim Horn led the losers with 12 points.

Thomas Westville pushed to an 18-12 first period lead, and also led 30-26 at halftime. In the third they held a comfortable margin 42-35.

Gene Kitzmiller meshed the nets for 20 markers to lead the winners, and Dave Baird tallied 20 points for the losers.

In the final fray of the evening Gasco took a slim one point lead over Suburban in the first period 8-7. But in the second period the Gasco cagers found the range and hit the nets for 16 points while limiting their opponents to nine points, and at the end of the quarter Gasco led 24-16. In the third stanza both squads tallied 16 points, and Gasco led 40-32.

Baker paced the winners with 17 points, and Tom Alesi tallied 13 points for the losers.

Local Frosh 50-30 Winners

Rip E. Liverpool For 9th Victory

By BOB JULIAN

Coach Sam Pridon and his Salem High School freshman basketball team chalked up their ninth win in 10 outings as they crushed East Liverpool West Gate Junior High, 50-30, Saturday on the Quakers' court.

Salem took a 1-0 lead early in the initial frame on a foul shot by Davy Hunter, but the Potters connected on a basket by Battistelli to move into their only lead of the contest 2-1 with five minutes remaining in the period.

Poor handling on the part of both teams, coupled with bad passes, held the score down in the initial period.

THE QUAKERS WERE in command after the first six minutes 10-7.

Jim Lehwald paced the Pridonmen in the second period, collecting six of the Red and Black's 13 tallies in the frame.

Battistelli, who played an all-around game for the West Gate five, sparked the Potters in the quarter by scoring four of the six markers chalked up by his team and worked well under the boards in getting the rebounds.

At intermission the Quakers margin to 10 points, 23-13.

Opening the third stanza, Battistelli hit on a two-pointer to cut the Salem lead to 23-15, but big Paul Herman dumped in three markers to move the Quakers into an 11 point advantage 26-15. From this point on the canto the Red and Black limited the Potters to only four points while netting 12 to hold a 38-19 margin after three frames.

In the fourth stanza Coach Pridon inserted an entirely new outfit. The new recruits tallied 12 markers while the Potters, seeming to hit their stride, chalked up 11.

THE LOSS MARKED the fourth setback in nine tries for the visiting West Gate five.

Salem attempted 43 shots from the field and drilled in 20 for a percentage of 46. From the foul circle the Quakers pumped in 10 of 27 tries for 37 per cent.

West Gate, in comparison, attempted 44 shots from the field and connected on 13 for a low percentage of 29. At the foul stripe the visitors tried 24 free throws and hit on four for a poor percentage of 16.

Paving the way for the Pridonmen was Jim Lehwald with 10 markers. He was followed by Herman and Chappell with eight each.

Battistelli was the big gun for the Potters, netting 15 points, half his team's output.

Salem's next game is set for Feb. 4 at East Palestine. The locals beat the Bulldogs 43-33 in their first meeting. Game time is 4 p.m.

Mantle To Sign Contract Today

By ORLOE ROBERTSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle officially puts his name on the third richest contract in New York Yankee history today after quietly but dramatically revealing his intentions.

"I have reached an agreement with the Yankees and will sign a contract Monday," the 25-year-old triple crown winner told some 1,600 guests at the 34th annual dinner of the New York chapter of the Baseball Writers' Assn. of America Sunday night.

Mantle, who received the Sid Mercer Award as Player of the Year for 1956, termed the agreement "very satisfactory" but declined to give the figures.

From another source, it was learned the contract calls for about $60,000 — third to the $100,000 paid Joe Dimaggio and the $80,000 to Babe Ruth by the Yankees. Yogi Berra is believed to be close to Mantle with a $58,000 contract for playing in 1957.

Capital Defeats Mount Union 62-57

Mount Union's Purple Raiders lost their seventh game in 17 outings Saturday night as Capital defeated them 62-57 in a game played at Columbus.

Bruce Pumphre led the Purple Raider attack with 18 points. Mike Outcalt meshed the nets for 22 markers to pace the winners to pace the winners to their eighth victory in 12 outings.

Senators' Goal Is To Better 7th Place Standing Of 1956

(Another in a series of managerial views on the pennant races, written under the managers' own bylines Washington Senators)

By CHARLIE DRESSEN

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP) — Our goal for 1957 is to improve on our seventh place standing of a year ago. I think we can do it mainly because last season was an experimental year in which we did a lot of gambling by trading off several established big leaguers for promising youngsters.

The fellows we got in return were players who never had a chance to make it in the majors. What they needed most was a year of big league competition under their belts. Some of them, like Lou Berberet, Herb Plews and Whitey Herzog, got it while others gained valuable experience in the minors. They all should be better off for it.

We hope to build our team around such holdovers as Chuck Stobbs, Clint Courtney, Pete Runnels, Roy Sievers, Jim Lemon, Jerry Snyder and Eddie Yost. Stobbs was a 15-game winner. Courtney hit .300 and Runnels .310. Sievers broke the Senators' home run record with 29 and drove in 95 runs.

Lemon, in his first full season, tied for the American League lead in triples with 11, smashed 27 home runs and knocked in 96 runs. Snyder was a .270 hitter and did a good job at shortstop until his wrist was broken by a Virgil Trucks' pitch in mid-season. Yost again led the majors with 151 walks and was a steady man at third base.

However, I intend to focus much of my attention on the many youngsters coming up from the minors. There is Ted Abernathy, a big sidearm righthander who earned a new chance by his 1956 performance at Louisville. He led the American Assn. in strikeouts with 212 and pitched the most complete games, 19.

Another outstanding prospect from Louisville is Neil Chrisley, a 6-3, 190-pound outfielder. Chrisley, only 24, broke the Louisville record for lefthanded hitters by hitting 24 home runs, good for fifth place in the league. He also led the league in doubles with 40.

I intend to take a long look at pitchers Dick Hyde, who appeared in 54 games at Chattanooga, tops in the Southern Association; Evelio Hernandez, a Cuban righthander who won 18 and lost only four at Charlotte; Oscar Chinique, who had 11-3 at Hobbs, N. M., in the Southwestern League; Rene Nardose, who had a 2.26 earned run average at Port Walton Beach in the Alabama-Florida League; Ted Sadowski, who struck out 109 at Charlotte, and Dick Brodowski, whose 12 complete games at Louisville was third best in the American Association.

Coming back for another shot is bonus baby Harmon Killebrew, who batted .325 at Charlotte in 70 games. He swatted 15 homers and drove in 63 runs, almost one a game. Carlos Paula, a .342 hitter at Louisville and Denver is an outfielder back for another trial. Then there is Dick Tietelbach, a Yale man, who batted .250 at Denver.

As for the rest of the league, the Yankees look to be the best. I understand Cleveland has some good looking kids coming up. They'll need them to challenge the Yankees.

Chicago needs help, too, to go to the top. Boston was a big disappointment last year. Detroit could be the surprise team of the league. They've got a new manager but he's thoroughly familiar with the personnel, which is good and improving. Baltimore is the team we have to beat out for sixth place. Kansas City is trying hard to improve and they might.

Quakerettes Rip Columbus 59-30

Salem's Quakerettes won their second game in six starts this season as they romped over the Columbus Independents 59-30 in a game played at the High School gymnasium.

The Quakerettes led all the way, with quarter scores of 15-6, 23-12, and 46-21.

Pat Seederly, Darlene Smith, and Janet Reeder, each scored in the double figure columns with 16, 11 and 10, respectively.

Betty Woods took scoring honors with 19 points for the losers. From the field the Quakerettes took 57 shots and meshed 25 for a 43.8 percentage, and from the foul line they hit on nine of 22 attempts for 40 per cent.

Columbus attempted only 36 shots, hitting on nine of these for 40 per cent, and from the foul line they hit on 12 of 26 free throws for 46 per cent.

The Independents have a 6-10 season record.

Goshen Edges Greenford; Canfield Drops 15th Tilt

Goshen edged Greenford 73-69 and Jackson-Milton crushed Canfield 66-44 in district cage games played Saturday night.

Greenford led 20-16 at the end of the initial period, and also led at the half 35-31. But Goshen found the range at the Greenford gymnasium during the second half to win.

Bob Stallsmith and Roger Wyss tallied 21 and 20 points, respectively, for the winners, and Jack Brudery took scoring honors with 23 points for the losers.

Goshen's season record is now 13-3, and Greenford has a 9-8 record.

In the game at North Jackson,

Jackson-Milton led all the way in winning its fourth game in 15 starts. Canfield lost its 15th game in 16 starts.

The score was 23-10 at the end of the first period, and 39-22 at the half. At the end of three periods the score was 56-33.

Delmar Stanley led the winners with 17 points, and Roger Williams paced the losers with 14 markers.

Hart Heavy Favorite Over Allison Tonight

By The Associated Press

Garnett (Sugar) Hart, Philadelphia's classy welterweight prospect, is a 3-1 favorite to rack up his 12th straight victory tonight in his drive for a high ranking among the 147-pounders. The 21-year-old knockout artist faces Barry Allison, 26 - year - old New England kinsman from Springfield, Mass., in a television 10-rounder (Dumont-TV 9:30 p.m. CST) at New York's St. Nicholas Arena.

Joey Giardello, another Philadelphia on a victory tear, is a 4-1 choice to roll up his seventh successive win on Wednesday night when he meets lanky Randy Sandy of New York at the Chicago Stadium (ABC-TV, Radio, 9 p.m. CST). Giardello zoomed back into middleweight title contention at the same arena last Sept. 28 when he bombed out Bobby Boyd in the fifth round.

LOOK! NEW FORD TRUCKS for '57

LOOK again! They're modern through and through

The boldly modern styling you see in the new Ford trucks for '57 just hints at how deep-down modern they really are!

The beautiful new Ford Ranchero rides, handles and looks like a modern car. Deep down it's a rugged truck—carries over half a ton, more than many standard pickups. Ford's all-new Tilt Cab Series brings a new kind of modern design to the big-truck field. It's America's lowest-priced* Tilt Cab line.

New Ford pickups back up their sleek modern styling with higher power, completely new cabs, a new kind of pickup ride. Styleside bodies are biggest of any pickup.

The three trucks shown here give you just an idea of the sweeping changes in the new Ford line for '57—ranging up to tandems with 65,000-lb. GCW. See your Ford Dealer for complete details on the truck to fit your job.

*Based on a comparison of factory-suggested list prices

NEW cabs—completely new—stronger, roomier, smarter! New wider full-wrap windshield. New inboard cab step, new Hi-Dri ventilation.

NEW riding comfort! Big roomy cabs, new chassis suspension, and increased visibility combine to greatly improve riding and handling ease.

NEW chassis strength! New frames, up to 13% stronger. New sturdier front and rear axles! New higher capacity springs!

NEW power advances! Higher horsepower, freer breathing, higher compression ratios, new Super-Filter air cleaner. Short Stroke engine design—V-8 or Six, in every model!

NEW hydraulic clutch standard in all models, pickups to tandems. Easier to operate—works like hydraulic brake. Clutch and brake pedals are modern suspended type!

NEW Styleside pickup bodies, standard at no extra cost. America's biggest pickup bodies! Side loading's far easier with full-width body.

If You Can't Build New Closets, Expand the Ones You Have

By ANDREW C. LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Architects set the pace in design, but must yield to demand in the matter of certain essentials. That's why more and more closet space is being incorporated into new homes throughout the country. Prospective home owners — especially the ladies — have made it plain that plenty of closet space is a "must" in any house they eventually purchase.

Unfortunately, the willingness of architects to meet this need is of no help whatever to the millions of Americans who have older houses which lack a sufficient number of closets. It is amazing how many old houses, built sparsely in every other way, do not have enough closet room. This lack is sometimes met by breaking into walls to build more closets or by constructing or buying closets which set up in corners or against walls. And sometimes it isn't met at all, the family moving along on a catch-as-catch-can basis, with a merry scramble for space each time guests are expected.

Improve Use

The one solution to the problem which does not involve breaking into the walls or losing floor space is to make more use of the closets you already have.

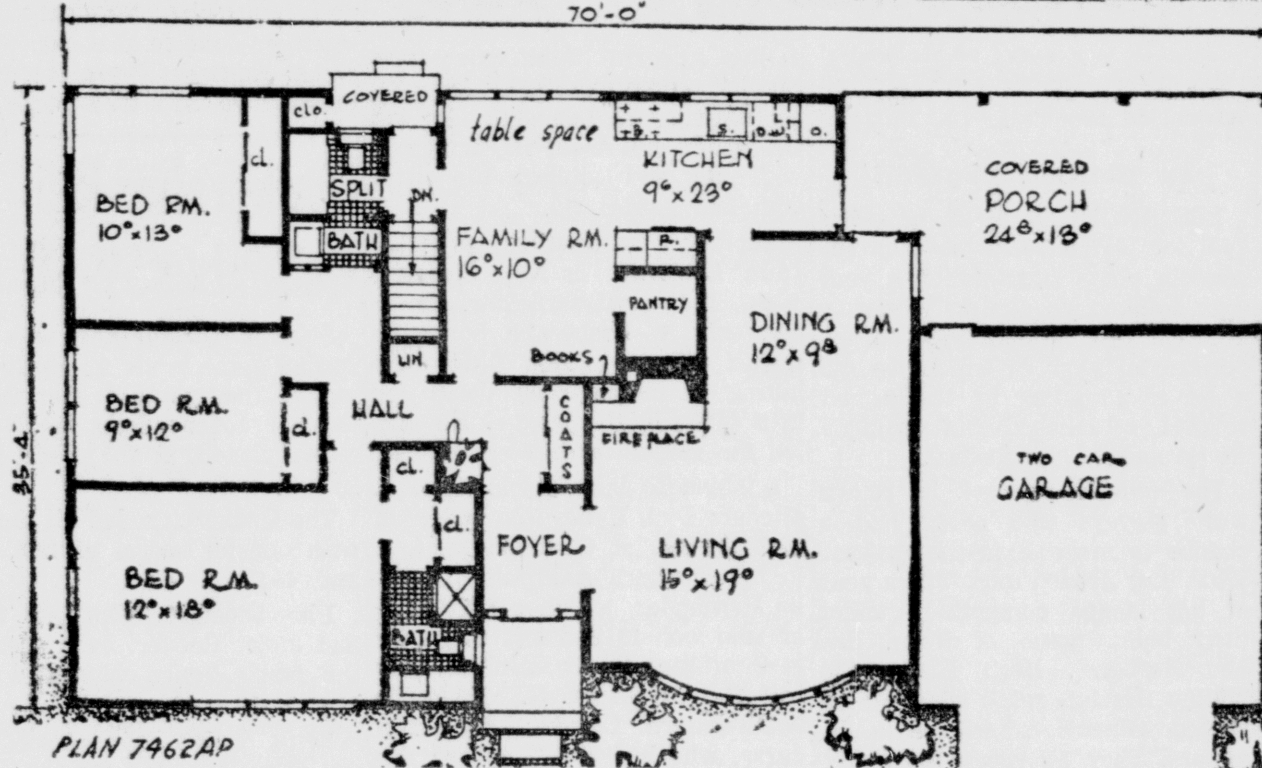

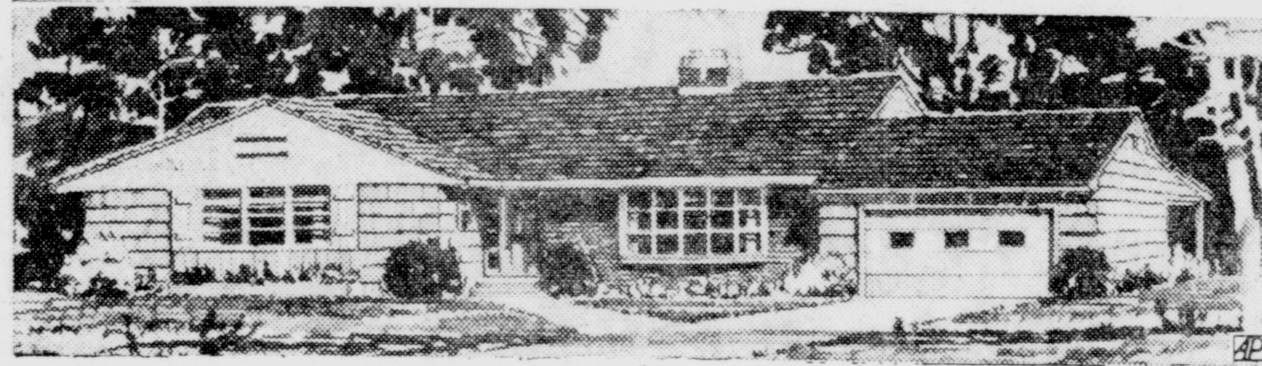

The ordinary clothes closet has a wooden or metal rod stretched across its width to hold suits, coats, dresses and other garments which are placed on hangers. It has a shelf, also across the width and just a little higher than the rod. And it has a hook or two on the inside of the door. The clothes rod usually is jammed, the shelf packed with hats, boxes and what-not . . . and the floor is covered with shoes, rubbers, slippers and a few articles you just didn't know where else to put.

One look at a closet of that sort and you could not help but get the feeling that it is filled to capacity. But the chances are that it has plenty of waste space. For instance there usually are several feet of space in the closet above the single hat shelf. Put a couple of extra shelves there and you've immediately gained a considerable amount of valuable space. With three shelves, the bottom one can be used for things which you use very often, the middle one for things you need occasionally, the top one for items which are taken down only every few months or perhaps once a year.

Supported by Strips

These shelves can be attached in any one of several ways. The simplest is to attach two strips of wood to opposite sides of the closet and then lay the shelves on the strips. The attachment of the strips to the walls should be strong, but the shelves need be kept in place only with small finishing nails. Or you can screw metal supports into the walls and place the shelves on them.

Small shoe stands, either ready-made or constructed at home, will bring order out of that mixed-up collection of shoes, slippers and rubbers on the closet floor. In-

A LARGE AND CONVENIENTLY LOCATED family room, two well placed bathrooms, "L" shaped living and dining room area and three bedrooms feature this attractive ranch house. This is plan 7462AP by Herman H. York, architect, of 90-04 161st St., Jamaica 32, N. Y. The house covers 1,675 square feet without garage and porch, which figure separately at lower building rates.

CAULKING WINDOWS
AP Newsfeatures

DO . . . caulk the seams around outside window frames to prevent the entry of moisture and rain that can cause expensive trouble on the inside of a house.

DO . . . use regular caulking compound, which never gets completely hard and thus expands and contracts with the material next to it.

DO . . . apply the compound with a putty knife or caulking tube (much better) or caulking gun (best of all).

DO . . . in the case of large gaps between the window frame and the house, pack oakum into the opening, then apply the caulking compound.

DO . . . get best results by doing the caulking on a warm, dry day.

DON'T . . . apply the new caulking compound until all loose or battered old compound has been removed.

DON'T . . . forget that, while most caulking material usually is white, it is available in many colors in various colors.

DON'T . . . forget, too, that black caulking compound is extra-resistant to the sun, but should not be painted over unless the directions say it can be done; most black compounds contain asphaltum, which often bleeds through paint.

DON'T . . . paint any caulking compound until it has dried for at least a day, an interval necessary to permit it to get a thin outer coat over the flexible inside.

Quizzing The Gardener

Q — We have an old privet hedge, six feet high, four feet wide and very sparse at the bottom. Most of the stalks are an inch in diameter at ground level. We would like to keep the hedge about three feet high and one and a half feet wide. How can we "thin" this out?

A — The rule for pruning is to cut off at the ground line, one-third of the oldest canes each year. This encourages new growth, making for a fresh low hedge. So get out your heavy pruning shears and small saw now and remove the oldest canes, topping remaining growth to 18 or 24 inches.

Q I would like to make a compost pile and would appreciate any information you can give me regarding this subject. At present the material I have consists mainly of leaves and corn stalks.

A — Compost is made from organic matter — grass clippings, leaves, garden refuse, sawdust, straw, etc. — arranged in six to eight-inch layers and a fertilizer strong in nitrogen, or Cyanamid, scattered over each layer to hasten decomposition. The compost pile should be three to five feet high with the top flat to catch water.

Fermentation starts immediately if the pile is kept moist and turned inside out every two months. Air and moisture are necessary to insure decomposition. Lime scattered on top will reduce possible objectionable odors.

Q — How much earth fill can be placed about oak trees without fear of damage? The builder claims two feet of soil is harmless.

A — I disagree with your builder. Any fill can be troublesome, especially clay soil. I suggest removing all fill at least three feet away from the trunk, erecting a stone, brick or concrete block to retain the soil beyond. To prevent water collecting in the well, install a tile drain leading to the storm sewer or other satisfactory outlet. Tree roots need air and moisture, but will not long tolerate excess soil moisture.

BASEMENT DOORS WIDER

Modern steel basement doors, designed to fit over stairs from the cellar, are now being made in widths up to 55 inches. The basement door can be the widest door in your house, permitting the passage of bulky appliances like food freezers which may not fit through any other door.

Home Owners Want Bigger Bathrooms

Home owners report their major bathroom problem is lack of sufficient space, says the Plumbing Manufacturers Assn.

In a nation-wide survey of 1,000 persons, aged 21 through 40, complaints about bathroom space limitations came from more than half.

Three of every 10 said their bathrooms were too small (they averaged 45 square feet). One of five reported insufficient storage room; one in 20 claimed poor bathroom design impaired proper use of available space; one in 30 had medicine cabinets that were too small; and one in 40 said there was no space for towels.

Plumbing fixture manufacturers are helping home owners eliminate these problems, the PFMA points out. For example, vanity lavatories now are produced with broad rims surrounding the fixtures, providing a place to rest toilet articles while grooming. Linens and other supplies can be stored on shelves in the cabinet below.

Many lavatories are made with special towel rack attachments. For additional storage space, contractors are installing open shelves above the toilet tank.

Square bathtubs often are useful when a bathroom has an odd shape. These tubs generally are four feet square instead of the conventional five feet by two-and-a-half feet.

Fixit Forum

Q — Our new house seems unusually damp. What can we do about it?

A — New homes very often do seem damp, and must undergo a drying-out period. If dampness is acute, you can install one of the chemical or electrical drying mechanisms which absorb moisture from the air, pending the time a thorough inspection of the house can be made to locate the cause.

Appliances Add To Cost Of New Homes

Congress to Take Up Question Of 'Extras' In Sale Of Home

By ANDREW C. LANG

AP Newsfeatures

Years ago when you bought a new house, you bought a house — period.

Today when you buy a new house, you buy a house plus a refrigerator plus a washing machine plus a dishwasher plus any or all of a dozen other modern appliances or convenience units.

What does this mean to you? Perhaps you've never given it a thought . . . but Congress has!

The entire matter of "extras" included in the purchase of a house has been under committee study for several months and is likely to reach the floor of Congress this spring. Here is how the battle lines are drawn:

Opposition Argument

Opponents of the package idea in housing say that the new home owner is not getting full value for his money. They point out that the purchaser of a house finds the price of the extra equipment included in the total cost. There is no argument on that score alone, since obviously somebody has to pay for the appliances. But they object to the fact that, since this additional cost becomes part of a long-term mortgage, the home owner actually is making payments on items over a 20, 25 or 30-year period . . . long after the appliance has outlived their usefulness. Thus, when a family gets down to the closing years of the life of a mortgage, all — or nearly all — the "extras" that came with the house have been replaced by new products of the same nature.

Oddly enough, the man who pays the freight, the new home owner, has found no fault with this system, with the usual few exceptions. The major complaint has come from the retailer, who has watched one of his most lucrative markets disappear little by little. Builders naturally buy in bulk, which means cheaper prices and a byproduct of the retailer.

Replacement Not Unusual

Those who see nothing wrong in the package idea in housing say that the argument of the opposition is built on a straw foundation. Sure, they admit, appliances and much other equipment included with a new house wear out before the mortgage has been paid off. But doesn't a house have to be repainted after a few years? Don't floor coverings wear out? In short, isn't the replacement for things always in the picture, even with elements long accepted as standard in a new house?

The package adherents have another point they emphasize . . . that many persons who buy houses with appliances, units and other items would be unable to do so if they had to purchase the "extras" separately. It's no secret that putting in the down payment, even when it's the absolute legal minimum, often strips a family of all available cash. If, in addition, the purchase of a thousand or more dollars worth of separates had to be contemplated, the family might well decide to wait another year or two before owning its own home. The rebuttal to this is that it might be better if such families did wait . . . that it's questionable whether they should leave themselves bereft of all cash in order to buy homes. But that's a controversy of much greater vintage, encompassing the over - all topic of credit and hardly confined to the subject of homes.

It will be interesting to see just what, if anything, Congress can do about the package deal in home selling.

Final Coat Sets Quality Of Varnish

AP Newsfeatures

No matter how much care and effort you put into a varnishing job, it's what you do to the final coat that determines the quality of the finish.

When the varnish is thoroughly hard, which means waiting at least one day and preferably two, rubbing with a fine grade of powdered pumice, mixed with water, will smooth out the irregularities. This rubbing should be done with a felt pad in the direction of the grain, the same as sanding. Two things will be accomplished: the surface of the wood will become very smooth and the high gloss of the varnish will disappear.

Additional rubbing, without adding any more pumice, will restore some of the gloss and can be left that way if desired. If you'd like a higher polish, more of the satiny variety, rub still more . . . this time with rottenstone mixed with water or rubbing oil.

In recent years, several different types of rubbing compounds have appeared on the market, designed to do away with the pumice and rottenstone procedure. However, they are not available in most regular hardware or paint stores and must be purchased from dealers who specialize in supplying craftsmen.

But whatever you use, remember that high quality varnish finishes are obtained by the professional because of what he does to the final coat.

HANDY CONTAINERS

Those little aluminum foil containers used for storing and cooking foods come in handy in the home workshop. When you have a small painting job to be done, pour a small amount of the paint into the container and work from that instead of from a large can. The container can be rinsed with turpentine and used again and again.

BASEMENTS IN DEMAND

Rising building costs and the desire of new home buyers for more space have resulted in an increased demand for houses with basements, says the Institute of Home Designers. Basement floor space costs only about $1.25 per square foot, compared with $14 to $16 per square foot of floor space built above ground.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

Temperatures will average about 5 degrees above normal, normal high 35 north to 41 south; normal low 19 north to 24 south. Only minor day-to-day temperature changes. Precipitation will average ¼ to ¾ inches as rain Tuesday night or Wednesday, and again on Friday.

Rotarians To Hear

Talk On Football
Joseph L. Connell, district manager for the Pittsburgh Steel Co., will be guest speaker at the Rotary Club meeting Tuesday noon in the Memorial Building.

Connell, whose avocation is refereeing professional football games, will speak on that sport. George Walker is program chair man.

LIONS CLUB TO MEET

The Lions Club will hold a business meeting Tuesday at 6 p.m. at the Lake Hotel. Reports will be presented.

Four slices of raw potato will clarify a quart of fat that has been used for frying. Just heat the fat with the potato in it until the fat bubbles. The potato slices will absorb flavors and collect sediment; any uncollected sediment will settle at the bottom of the kettle and may be removed after the fat is strained.

Questions and Answers

Q — Are all seven stars in the Pleiades cluster visible?
A — Six stars can easily be seen with the naked eye. People with very sharp eyes can see a seventh star.
Tomato sauce, with meat added, is delicious on spaghetti; but don't forget that tuna fish, minced canned clams or anchovies may substitute for the meat for flavor changes.

But Not Yale Men

By SAUL PETT
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — People die. People are born. Things change. But not Yale men, not basically. I have in hand the latest issue of the Yale Alumni Magazine, a journal normally seen only by the white buckskin sons of Eli, whose hearts still turn every sundown toward New Haven with the eternal sigh, "For God, for country and for Yale."

The magazine is interesting not because of its surprises but because of its relative lack of surprises. Now, I do not claim that it reflects or suggests a Yale stereotype but I do submit that Sinclair Lewis, were he still alive, might vastly relish the contents of this alumni journal, known to the faithful at YAM.

Of the first four ads in the magazine, one is devoted to the problems of "squaring away" the family estate through a distinguished New York bank, one suggests the advancement opportunities at an aircraft company, one (by another distinguished New York bank) poses the question of "How do you select securities?" and the fourth is a testimonial to the naturalistic "good taste and individuality" of Brooks Brothers, tailors, by appt., to the Ivy League.

The individual class notes reflect a certain amount of poignancy. The classes immediately before and after the turn of the century sadly report the passing of old chums. Later we get the news of so-and-so becoming a grandfather for the second time. More recently, of course, there are the marriage and birth announcements.

The '49 class notes were devoted largely to a survey of the current status of its graduates. Most members, it may be presumed, are now in their early thirties, having been delayed in their college work by military service. Still...

"Income-wise," said the survey, "one-quarter of our class is earning between $7,000 and $9,000; about 18 per cent between $5,000 and $7,000; 16 per cent between $9,000 and $11,000; and 12 per cent between $3,000 and $5,000."

"Five per cent of the respondents claimed incomes exceeding $25,000 a year. About 4 per cent of our class have wives who work full time at an income producing job. Twenty-two per cent have wives with a separate income... it seemed that most of the respondents claiming $25,000 a year and over also were married to wives, who have separate incomes."

The survey also showed that 64 per cent own one car; 27 per cent, two cars; 1 per cent, three or more cars, and about 8 per cent, no cars. Among 420 respondents, "there were only two airplane owners as against 47 boat owners."

Politically, 63 per cent consider themselves Republicans, 15 per cent, Democrats, and 22 per cent, independents. But the most reas-

DEAL DELAYED—An attempt by the Red Cross to purchase a home for its new national president, retired NATO chief Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, has been given a setback. The $70,000 residence, shown above, is in the exclusive Spring Valley section of Washington. The real estate developer of the community has filed suit to prevent the sale, citing one of 14 restrictive covenants governing sale of Spring Valley property. If the deal goes through, the house will be purchased from a special fund, established in 1919 by 50 friends of the Red Cross.

surging single item, I, as a graduate of a humble Midwestern university found, was this: "Fifty-five per cent have bought appliances, etc., at a discount house within the last year."

It's nice to know that Yale men, too, are scurrying around in that magical land between wholesale and retail prices.

Senator Attacks Aid For King Saud

CINCINNATI (AP)—U.S. Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) Sunday termed King Saud of Saudi Arabia a "despot" and said he thinks any American aid to the king's country is "blackmail."

Douglas, here to address a fund-raising dinner for Histadrut, a health and education agency in Israel, said in an interview that Saud has a 250 million dollar yearly income, none of which goes to his people.

"If we give his country any economic aid in the face of this fact," he said, "it is pure blackmail. Paying blackmail may sometimes be justifiable, but I don't like it."

The senator said he didn't like the big official welcome King Saud received on his recent visit to America.

"I don't question President Eisenhower's motives," Douglas said. "He's trying to put a dent in the Arab bloc. But personally, I am not happy to go to such extremes for such a despot."

The senator said he thinks Congress will approve the "Eisenhower Doctrine" for the Middle East, but said he doubts if it will insure peace and stability.

He said, "There isn't much danger of overt Russian aggression in the Middle East, and that's what the administration program is designed to prevent."

Newspaper Assn. To Convene Thursday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Publisher panels and question-and-answer sessions will top the program of the Ohio Newspaper Assn.'s annual meeting here Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The sessions, scheduled for the Deshler-Hilton Hotel, will include a reception and open house Friday night in charge of Frank W. Spencer of the Newark Advocate, vice president and convention chairman.

G. Gordon Strong, of the Brush-Moore Newspapers, Canton, president of the association, will preside at the Friday morning session for dailies. Don C. Orwig, Napoleon, president of the Buckeye Press Assn., will preside at the session for weeklies.

The all-publisher luncheon is scheduled for Friday at 12:15 p. m.

with Strong presiding. Presentation of the Osman C. Hooper Newspaper Show plaques will take place at the luncheon.

The annual banquet is scheduled for Friday night with Gov. C. William O'Neill as speaker. Roger H. Ferger, publisher of the Cincinnati Enquirer, will be toastmaster. The governor's awards to outstanding Ohioans also will be made, as will the annual ONA Glen L. Cox Newspaperboy Achievement Awards.

Thieves Rob Safe In Well-Lit Showroom

PATERSON, N. J. (AP)—Thieves broke open a safe standing in the well-lit showroom of an auto agency.

According to police, the safe-crackers must have worked undisturbed in the glaring showroom of Streelman-Nash, Inc., for at least half an hour in full view of passers-by. They got $463.

Roaches A Bother? Keep Your Lights On

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — Police Sgt. Steve Torda Jr. claims he has a remedy for roaches — keep the lights on.

Torda said the lights in the basement at police headquarters have been burning three years and the roaches don't come in — not even to lick the glue off envelopes, which roaches dearly love.

It's cheaper than insecticides, Torda said.
